PREFACE

IN 1906 Mr. Vincent Smith published Vol. I of the new Catalogue of Coins in the Indian Museum, Calcutta, including the Cabinet of the Asiatic Society of Bengal. This volume contains the ancient and mediaeval coins of Northern and Southern India struck by foreign invaders and native rulers and corresponds to sections of Parts II and IV of the Catalogue by Mr. C. J. Rodgers (1894 and 1896). In 1907 and 1908 appeared Vols II and III by Mr. H. Nelson Wright, The Sultans of Delhi and Mediaeval Muhammadan States, and The Mughal Emperors; these two volumes corresponded to Part I and a section of Part III of the earlier Catalogue. A fourth volume, to cover the modern series, was planned by Mr. H. Nelson Wright, and sections allotted to various collaborators. With the outbreak of war, all hope of publication was indefinitely postponed. Three of the contributors, Mr. C. J. Brown, Dr. J. R. Henderson, and Mr. W. H. Valentine, however, produced the sections allotted to them, and when funds once more became available, Sir John Marshall took steps to have the volume printed. As Mr. Nelson Wright found himself unable to undertake the general editorship of the volume, Sir John Marshall asked me to see it through the press.

With the simple straightforward series in Sections I and II my task was an easy one. Section III, however, was a much more serious matter, dealing, as it does, with series which have been very little studied. My knowledge of the Prinsep collection and of the very fine series of late Moghul coins in the British Museum has occasionally enabled me to throw light on the attribution of a defective coin in this collection. { This has resulted in a few discrepancies between the order in the text and the order in the plates as the latter were made before printing was begun.

As to transliteration the scientific systems adopted by the authors in Sections I and II are retained, in the case of Section III, however, it seemed desirable to avoid pedantry in the transliteration of quite modern names. I have, therefore, followed the transliterations of the Imperial Gazetteer of India as the only standard work of reference which covers the same area. Special attention has been devoted to the Indexes, as this volume covers a new field and it is hoped they will be found useful.

Dr J R. Henderson died while his section was passing through the press, and Mr W H Valentane also has not lived to see his work in print. Their sections of this book will give some idea of the loss that we have sustained.

In conclusion I have to thank the Oxford University Press for the care they have bestowed on the production of the text and plates I have also to thank Mr H. Nelson Wright and my colleagues, Mr A S Fulton and Mr J V S Wilkinson, for occasional help

INTRODUCTION

History The history of the Awadh dynasty and of its important dealings with the East India Company has yet to be written. The outstanding political events are not, however, in dispute, and may be summarized as follows. The founder of the dynasty was one Muhammad Amīn, better known as S'ādat Khān, a Persian adventurer at the court of the Mughal Emperor Muhammad Shāh, a Wazīr of the Empire, he was created Sūbahdār of Awadh in 1720, on the overthrow of the notorious Saiyad brothers, and soon afterwards made himself practically independent ruler in his province. His dominions included, beside the present province of Awadh or Oudh, the districts of Ghāzīpūr, Banāras and Gorakhpūr. To these were added in 1773 the districts of Ilahābād and Korā, and in the following year was annexed the tract of Rohilkhand. S'ādat Khān's son-in-law, Safdar Jang, succeeded him in 1739, being also created a Wazīr of the Empire, and the title becoming associated in the popular mind with the family, these rulers were henceforth known as the Nawāb-Wazīrs. Shujā'u-d-daula (1756-75) the third Nawāb-Wazīr, and his son Āsafu-d-daula (1775-97) had important relations with the Company. The latter on his accession ceded the districts of Ghāzīpūr and Banāras to the Company, and shortly afterwards moved his capital from Faizābād to Lakhnau (Lucknow). In 1801, in the time of the Nawāb S'ādat 'Alī (1798-1814), Rohilkhand as well as the districts of Gorakhpūr, Ilahābād, and Korā were also ceded to the Company.

In 1818 the Governor-General, Lord Hastings, during a visit to the Nawāb Ghāzīu-d-dīn Haider, induced him to make himself independent of Dehlī by assuming the title of king. After some hesitation he was crowned on October 9, 1819 (18 Z'u-l-hijja, 1234). He was succeeded on the throne by his son, his brother, his brother's son, and grandson. The annals of the kingdom of Awadh consist almost entirely of a series of disputes, creditable to neither party, between the Company and the kings and their ministers. After thirty-seven years the kingdom ended with the forced abdication of Wājid 'Alī Shāh on February 12, 1856. On June 30, 1857, the Mutiny broke out in Lucknow.

The Coins The district of Banāras, in which was situated the Mughal mint of Muhammadābād-Banāras, opened in 1734, formed, as has been seen, part of the domains of the Nawāb-Wazīrs. From 1754

Shujā u-d-daula was in more or less direct control of this mint until his death in 1775¹ when it passed with the district into the hands of the East India Company. The latest rupee issued from the Banāras mint under Nawābī control is dated A.H. 1189-16 R. (= 1775 A.D.). The East India Company continued with slight modifications the style and legends (in the name of the Mughal Shāh Ālam) of the Nawābī rupees, but fixed the standard and retained Shāh Ālam's regnal year 17 as a guarantee of fineness, on coins of all succeeding years till the closing of the mint in 1819. But the Nawāb Āṣafu-d-daula also continued to strike rupees on which the mint name Muḥammadābād Banāras appears on these the regnal year changed with the Hijrī year until A.H. 1201 (1785) when, following the Company's precedent, the regnal year 26 was fixed and appeared on coins of all succeeding years until 1234 when the series ended. The rupees struck by the Nawāb between the years 1775-83 are not common, probably because rupees somewhat similar in fabric were also issuing from the Nawāb's mint at Lahābād between the years 1190-18 R. and 1194-21 (L.M.C., Nos. 4562 a-4562 h). The Banāras rupees of these years bear the characteristic fish (maḥlūṭ) and flag symbols on the reverse the Hijrī date is below the last line on the obverse, and on most known specimens is wanting. Rupees of this type are known of 18 R. 19 R. 23 R., 1197-24 25 R., 26 R.²

All these rupees bearing the fish mark on the reverse were, and are still locally known as maḥlūṭidār and after the regnal year 26 became fixed appear in records of the period as the 26 san issue. Gold and copper of the same type were also struck but there are none in this collection. That they were minted by Āṣafu-d-daula and his successors in Lucknow is proved by the two following pieces of evidence. Among the Calcutta mint records there is a letter dated

² For the first two coins cited in the text cf. B.M.C. Nos. 1130-7. For coin of 23 R., 24 R., 25 R. cf. L.M.C. 4831 a-4831 c, and for the 26 R. cf. Part I Nos. 1-3, in this catalogue B.M.C. No. 1133 (1189 17 R.), and Nos. 1133-41 (1196-23 R., full half quart r eighth, and sixteenth parts of a rupee) are very curious. They have the umbrella on the reverse instead of the characteristic flag, also the position of the date on the obverse is different from that on other coins previous to 1703-76. Besides, the rupee of 23 R. in Lucknow is of the usual type. One might conjecture that these represent attempts on the part of the Mughal Shāh Ālam to avert his waning authority or perhaps they are proofs—the complete series of 1196-23 R. support this—struck for the East India Company.

May 1803¹ from the Collector of Gorakhpūr, in which appears the following statement 'It is the opinion of some sensible shroffs that in the course of the ensuing year it may be advisable to establish a mint at the town of Gorakhpur. In this case it is my opinion that the Lucknow sikka rupee of the 28 san [sic, obviously an error for 26 san] should be gradually introduced'

In Thurston's note² appears also the following

'By Regulation XLV, 1803, it was enacted that —(Sect 11) A silver coin to be denominated the Lucknow sikka rupee of the 45 san struck in the mint of Farrukhabad corresponding in weight and standard with the sikka rupee at present struck in Lucknow in the dominions of the Nawab Vizier, and thence denominated the Lucknow rupee, is hereby declared to be the established and legal silver coin in the provinces ceded by the Nawab Vizier to the English East India Company.'³

It may be added that these machhlīdār's are known in the Lucknow bazar, where they are plentiful, as Āsafu-d-daula rupees. There is a fine series of them in this Collection (Part I, Nos 1-117). A remarkable feature is the number of minutely differentiated varieties which appear from the year 1211 onwards, sometimes as many as four in one year (cf Nos 56-61). The purpose of these and of the frequent change in the ornaments on the reverse was probably to make forgery more difficult. The weights and sizes of these coins are not given in detail: the weight is almost uniform, ranging between 172-3 grains, the size varies between 0.85 and 0.95 of an inch.

Before leaving the coinage of the Nawāb-Wazīrs it should be mentioned that at various times they doubtless had control over other mints. From 1774-1801 the Bareilī mint was in their hands, and from A.H. 1209-11 (1794-6) the name of the mint was changed on the coins from Qit'a Bareilī to Āsafābād Bareilī. But the series of coins issuing from the mints of Rohilkhand and the adjoining districts present a mass of difficulties and has not yet been properly examined. In A.H. 1188, after his victory over the Rohillas under Hāfiz Rahmat, Shujā'ud-daula issued a fine silver medal which has been described in N S xviii, p. 273 (Appendix).

The early coinage of Ghāziu-d-dīn Haider as king marks the hesitation with which he assumed the regal insignia. The obverse of his earliest issue, A.H. 1234 is an almost exact copy of the 26 san coins retaining the name of Shāh Ālam and though the reverse bears the arms of Awadh the date 26 is preserved (cf Part II Nos. 2-3). Then appears an issue also dated A.H. 1234 with a couplet containing his own name with the title of king but dated in the fifth year of his Nawābī (cf. Part II, Nos. 6-7). Finally appear coins similar in legends and style to the foregoing but dated 1235-ahd Qhāxiu-d-din reckoned his first regnal year as starting from the 1st Muharram 1233. To celebrate his coronation the king had a fine silver portrait medal struck weighing 1,220 grains¹ at the same time were probably struck two small silver pieces, of 21 and 10 grains respectively bearing the king's name and titles only and dated 1235-ahd.² They are noteworthy as the only coins of Awadh differing in style from the prescribed pattern for the year otherwise a complete uniformity is preserved in gold, silver and copper, changes in style and inscription taking place simultaneously in all three metals. The four successors of Qhāxiu-d-din Haider each adopted their own couplet. Nasiru-d-din Haider used two these will be found given in full in the body of the Catalogue.

All five kings are said to have coined in gold the ashrafi with its half, quarter eighth and sixteenth parts, though all five denominations are known of Wajid Ali Shāh only.³ The ashrafi or muhar usually weighs about 165 grains, though one of Wajid Ali Shāh, dated 1270-8 R. weighs 187.34 grains.⁴ In silver there were the rupee half quarter eighth, and sixteenth of a rupee. Usually the rupee die was made to serve for the smaller pieces, with the result that these frequently lack one and sometimes both dates (cf. Nos. 60-74) in certain years Qhāxiu-d-din⁵ Nasiru-d-din and Wajid Ali Shāh had dies of the requisite sizes engraved. The rupee varies in weight between 169-172 grains.

In copper the fulūs of an average weight of 180-5 grains was the only copper coin struck by the first four kings. Wajid Ali Shāh in A.H. 1270-1 struck half quarter and eighth pieces, as well as a strange coin weighing 461.3 grains.⁶

Except for the coats of arms on the reverse which show European influence, the Awadh coins are in weight and form the lineal successors of the Mughal issues, but, with the exception of Ghāziū-d-dīn's coronation medal, entirely lack artistic merit

¹ For a description and illustration of this medal by H. A. Wright cf. J. S. I p. 11. It was also described by H. H. Wilson in Nom. Chron. vol. v 1813, pp. 129-33.

Like the Mughals, the Awadh kings adopted high-sounding titles Ghāziū-d-dīn calls himself شاه زمان 'King of the World', Amjad 'Alī uses the title عالم پناه 'Refuge of the World' The title 'Bādshāh' is used by Nasīru-d-dīn, Muhammad 'Alī Shāh, and Wājid 'Alī Shāh, the last even assumes the title سلطان عالم 'Sultan of the World'

The mint-name Lakhnau is prefixed by various honorific titles in the first two years of Ghāziū-d-dīn's reign it is دار الامارة 'The seat of Government', it is then changed to دار السلطنة 'The seat of Sovereignty' Muhammad 'Alī, in the first year of his reign, changed this to بيت السلطنة 'The abode of Sovereignty' Wājid 'Alī, in A H 1267, first substituted Mulk Awadh for the name Lakhnau and then added to it the further title احترنگر, derived from his poetic takhallus Akhtar To the name of the mint town Lakhnau, Ghāziū-d-dīn added the name of the province صوة اوده this remained till A H 1256, when Muhammad 'Alī changed it to ملك اوده

The series of coins (Part I, Nos 118-35) bearing the date 1229 26 R and struck at the mint صوة اوده present great difficulties I contend that, though bearing the date A H 1229 (1814 A D), they were not struck in that year but were issued by the rebel authorities in Lucknow during the mutiny in the years 1857-8 Wājid 'Alī Shāh had abdicated on February 12, 1856 On June 30, 1857, the Mutiny broke out and Biṭīs Qadī, a son of Wājid 'Alī, was made Nawāb-Wazīr of Awadh—the title is important—by the mutineers His mother Hazrat Mahal acted as regent

As against their having been struck in A H 1229 it may be noted

(1) There was already the Muhammadābād Banāras '26 san' coin struck in Lucknow in that year (cf Part I, Nos 95-7)

(2) A close examination of these Sūba Awadh coins shows that they are unconnected in point of style with the Muhammadābād Banāras '26 san' coins the arrangement of the obverse legend is quite different, the mint marks are different, and the style of the fish on the reverse is quite different

(3) An examination of seven of the principal finds of Awadh coins in the United Provinces since 1903 reveals the fact that while royal Awadh and '26 san' Muhammadābād Banāras coins occur together in the same find, and also these two classes along with Sūba Awadh coins, in no case have Sūba Awadh coins been found alone with the regular '26 san' issue

(4) It is more likely that the designation صوة اوده was derived from the royal Awadh coins than vice versa

To support the contention that the Şuba Awadh coins are later than the royal Awadh coins and were struck during the Mutiny

(1) They are generally the best-preserved coins in the finds in which they occur—few show signs of hard wear—and they are usually in mint condition.

(2) The large number of varieties in this type of rupee point to irregular conditions of minting and an inability to keep pace with the demand such conditions as must have prevailed during the Mutiny

(3) The Lucknow sarrāfs still call the Şuba Awadh coins Brijis Qadr rupees.

The contention is that these coins were minted in Lucknow by the rebel authorities from June 1857 until the recovery of the city by the English in March 1858¹. Large quantities were required to pay the rebel soldiers they would be sufficiently like the regular '26 san coins—still current in the bazars—to satisfy the recipients, and during and after the Mutiny they would naturally be buried in large quantities.

Why then the date 1229? Attention has been called to the title Nawāb-Wazīr bestowed by the mutineers on Brijis Qadr the title of king was unpopular as it had been assumed at the suggestion of the English by Ghāzīu-d-dīn Haider A.H. 1229 was the date of his accession to the Nawābī, so it is possible that that date was chosen as the last year in which a Nawāb-Wazīr ruled who had been unshaken in his allegiance to the Delhi house whose fortunes seemed now once more in the ascendant. Şuba Awadh coins of this type are known also in gold and copper Finds. The coins in this and other museum collections in India have been derived largely from finds made in the United Provinces. Two of the largest of these, both unearthed in 1915 may be described. The larger of the two from Tiloi in the Rae Bareilly district consisted of 3706 rupees, of these 1,943 were 26 san Muḥammadābād Banāras rupees, 533 belonged to the Şuba Awadh class, 4 were miscellaneous and the remainder were regal coins of Awadh. The second hoard found in Lucknow itself comprised 170 silver and 516 copper coins. The silver coins were as follows Muḥammadābād Banāras 26 san 1, Şuba Awadh 4 kings of Awadh 16; all the copper coins belonged to the kings of Awadh. This treasure was evidently concealed soon after the outbreak of the Mutiny

¹ Since this was written the attribution of these coins to Brijis Qadr has been conclusively proved in a note No. 223 The Muḥammadīr Şuba Awadh Coins, contributed by R. Burn to V S., xxxvi p. 1. It may be noticed that the rebel leader in Bareilly Khān Bahādur Kīān, struck coin during the Mutiny which imitate the Company Farrukhābād rupees, but with the mint Bareilly on the reverse.

INTRODUCTION

THE coins dealt with in this section were issued by the rulers of Mysore State in Southern India, and may conveniently be arranged in the three following divisions:

A. The earlier Hindu series, comprising all the coins issued prior to the Muhammadan period.

B. The Muhammadan series, comprising the coins issued by Haidar 'Alī and his son Tipū Sultān, from about A.D. 1763 to 1799.

C. The later Hindu series, comprising the coins issued by Krishna Rāja Wodeyar, from A.D. 1799 to 1843

A. THE EARLIER HINDU SERIES

The only coin belonging to this series in the present collection to which a date can be assigned, is the well-known Canteroy fanam struck by Kanthīraya-Narasa-Rāja of the Wodeyar dynasty (A.D. 1638-59), bearing on the obverse a figure of Nārasimha and on the reverse the ruler's name in an abbreviated form, in Dēvanāgarī. This fanam, which was probably frequently reissued by later rulers, was according to Hawkes (Coins of Mysore, 1856), finally recoined by Dīwān Pūrnaiya during the minority of Krishna Rāja. The original coin, which is of somewhat greater diameter than the latest reissue, was known locally as the agala Kanthīraya hana or broad Canteroy fanam, while the latter was termed the gidda Kanthīraya hana or small thick Canteroy fanam. Coin No. 2 of the catalogue is probably a specimen of the gidda fanam.

The remaining coins of this series bear no indication of the period at which they were struck, but their general appearance and relative abundance would lead one to assign them to the later sovereigns of the Wodeyar dynasty, and it is probable that some of them were recoined by Haidar 'Alī, who issued but few coins on his own account. With the exception of the 'battle-axe' series, to be referred to shortly, all the unassigned coins in the present collection bear on the reverse an arrangement of double lines crossed at right angles, frequently with symbols of unknown meaning in the interspaces, constituting what is termed by Tufnell (Catalogue of Mysore Coins in the Collection of the Government Museum, Bangalore, 1889) the chequered reverse type. On the obverse is to be found an animal, most commonly the elephant, but also a bull, peacock, &c., figures of Lakshmi, Ganēśa, Hanumān, Garuḍa, &c., and finally a series of Kanarese numerals.

The elephant which appears so frequently on these coins was perhaps taken from the Gajapati pagoda struck in all probability by the ancient Ganga Kings of Mysore and later on it was extensively adopted by Haider Ali and Tipū Sultān for their copper coins and also to some extent by Krishna Rāja. The Kanarese numeral series exists in two sizes, though only the larger is present in the collection under review numbered continuously from 1 to at least 32. No satisfactory explanation of these numbers has ever been adduced, and if they end as has just been indicated one is tempted to suppose that they may in some way commemorate the reign of a sovereign who ruled for thirty two years, such as Chikka Dēva Rāja (A.D. 1672-1704). Unfortunately however for this theory Jackson (Coin Collecting in Mysore, p. 18 1909) mentions a coin with the number 33 and there is no sovereign to match. The series was attributed by Sir Walter Elliot to Chāma Rāja V (A.D. 1731-75) during whose reign the sovereignty of Mysore was assumed by Haider Ali.

The copper coins of the tiger and battle-axe type, which were first attributed to Mysore by Marsden, are included in the catalogue with considerable reserve. The theory that they were issued by Tipū Sultān is to some extent borne out by the weights of the two larger coins which are slightly heavier than his half and quarter paise, their nearest equivalents and the distribution at the present day appears to indicate that they were chiefly used in Malabar.

B THE MUHAMMADAN SERIES

Comparatively few varieties of coin were struck by Haider Ali and till the later years of his reign he was probably content as regards the copper coinage to reissue the types used by his predecessors. His pagoda, known as the Bahāduri pagoda was copied from the Ikkēri pagoda struck by Sadāsiva Nāyaka of Ikkēri in the Shimoga District of Mysore which in turn followed a Vijayanagara model. It bears the seated figures of Śiva and Pārvatī and the initial letter of Haider's name (ح) is placed on the granulated reverse. The gold coinage also included a half pagoda and fanam similar to the pagoda except in size and dated fanams bearing Haider's initial on the obverse. All these coins are believed to have been struck at Nagar formerly known as Bednūr which Haider originally intended to make his capital. In A.H. 1195 (A.D. 1780-1) and in the following year though none of the latter is represented in the present collection Haider struck copper paises at his capital of Seringapatam, with the elephant obverse and date and mint-town recorded on the reverse, a type which was afterwards copied very extensively by his son Tipū Sultān. Haidar's cautious policy towards his Hindu subjects is illustrated by the representations of Śivaite deities, which, contrary to the dictates of his own religion, he permitted to appear on his gold coins, and there is no further indication of his personal authority than the initial letter of his name.

Contrary to the policy of his father, Tipū Sultān during the sixteen years of his reign issued coins in bewildering variety, from a number of different mints, on none of them, however, is the name of Tipū to be found. Whereas Haidar was content to adopt the Hindu coinage in pagodas and fanams which had long existed in Mysore, Tipū introduced the Muhammadan system of muhs and rupees. More orthodox perhaps than Haidar, or at any rate less tolerant of the religious views of his Hindu subjects, no concession to their faith is to be found on any of the coins of Tipū Sultān, and during his reign change and innovation became the order of the day. Many of the coins bear strange titles, the mint-towns frequently appear under new and fantastic names, a new system of numeration and nomenclature in connexion with the cyclic years was adopted, and finally the Hīrī reckoning was replaced by the Maulūdī era dating from the birth of the Prophet. A brief account will now be given of each of these innovations or peculiarities in the coinage.

The Titles of Tipū's Coins

The names of the gold coins have reference to Muhammadan Khalīfas. The Muhr or Ahmadī takes its name from احمد the 'most praised', a designation of the Prophet, the half-muhr or Sadīqī is derived from صدیق 'just', the special designation of Abū Bakr, the first of the four Khalīfas, the pagoda or Fārūqī has its origin in فاروق 'timid', the title of 'Umar, the second Khalīfa. The fanam, on the other hand, which corresponds in value to one-tenth of a pagoda, bears no name on the coin itself. The weights of the muhr and half-muhr show that these coins were intended to be the equivalents of four and two pagodas respectively.

The silver coins, with the exception of the smallest, take their names from the Imāms and thus, as in the gold series, commemorate the names of holy men. The double-rupee or Haidarī is named from حيدر 'a lion', the title of 'Alī, the first Imām, and perhaps Tipū was guided in his choice by the fact that it also recalls his father's name, the rupee or Imāmī is apparently a general designation for all the twelve Imāms, the half-rupee or 'Abdī is derived from علي بن

العابدين Alī Zaim al Ābidīn, the fourth Imām, the quarter rupee or Bāqirī is named after محمد الباقر Muḥammad al Bāqir the fifth Imām, the two-anna piece or Jaḥarī comes from حنجر الماني Ja aḥar al-Ṣādiq, the sixth Imām the one-anna piece or Kāḍimī is from موسى الكاظم Mūsā al Kāẓim the seventh Imām, the half anna piece or Khizrī, unlike the other silver coins, is not named after an Imām, but commemorates الخضر Al Khizr a saint who is said to have drunk of the fountain of life and thus rendered himself immortal. Only the four larger silver coins are represented in the present collection.

The first of the copper coins to receive a name was the double-paisa, which from the date of its issue in A.M. 1218 up to the year A.M. 1221 was known as عثمانى Uṭhmānī after 'Uṭhmān, the third Khalifa. In the Mauludī year 1221 all the copper coins were named after certain of the heavenly bodies, and in different double-paisas of this year both the old and the new names occur. The double-paisa was renamed مسرى Muḥṭarī from the planet Jupiter the paisa was termed زهرا Zohra after the planet Venus, and the coins of the Nagar mint show the spelling زهرا Zohra the half paisa بهرام Bahrām takes the name of the planet Mars the quarter paisa اختر Akhtar is simply the Arabic word for a star, finally the eighth paisa قطب Quṭb takes the name of the Pole-star. While the above names are the only ones recorded on the coins themselves it is customary to refer to the copper series either in relation to the paisa as is done here or in terms of the equivalent value in cash following the arrangement which came into force in Mysore after the death of Tipū. The double-paisa is thus the equivalent of 40 cash and the eighth paisa of 2½ cash.

The Mint towns of Tipū

If we include the doubtful Be-nazir which according to Moor (A Narrative of the Operations of Captain Little's Detachment 1793) was Tipū's name for Hole Honnūr in the Shimoga District of Mysore and Bellary the paisas from which place may possibly have been issued by Haidar the names of no fewer than fifteen places occur on the coins although two of them Dhārwar and Khwushhed-sawāl refer to the same town. Only Nagar Bangalore Calicut Dhārwar and Bellary appear under the names by which they are now known while all the other mint-towns bear new and fantastic appellations. Excluding Be nazir only five of the mints are now included in Mysore territory and all the others represent places of importance which were either lost to Tipu after the campaign of 1791 or fell out of the possession of Mysore after the final capture of Srirangapatam in 1799. Eleven mints are represented in the present collection.

those unrepresented being Salāmābād, Dhāwān, Be-nazī, and Bellary. A few brief notes may now be made on each of the mints.

Pattan, پتن, 'the town', or Seeringapatam, was Tipū's capital, situated on an island formed by a bifurcation of the River Cauvery, a few miles north of the town of Mysore. It was naturally the most active of the mints, and from it were issued all the different varieties of coin value struck by Tipū, indeed the half-muhr and all the silver coins smaller than the half-rupee appear to have emanated only from Pattan. Gold coins were issued from the first to the thirteenth regnal years, silver from the second to the sixteenth years, and copper from the first to the sixteenth years.

Nagar, نگر, 'the city', formerly known as Bednūr, is situated in the Shimoga District of Mysore. Gold coins were issued intermittently from the first to the eleventh regnal years, a few silver coins were issued in the fourth, fifth, and sixth years, while copper coins are to be found bearing dates of all the years from the first to the last.

Bengalūr, بنگلور, or Bangalore, is situated towards the south-eastern part of Mysore State. Copper coins only were issued from this mint from the fourth to the ninth years.

Fort Hisār, فيض حصار, 'the fort of bounty', is the name which Tipū applied to Gooty, a town with an important rock-fortress in the Anantapūr District of the Madras Presidency. Copper coins were issued from the fifth to the sixteenth years.

Farrukh-yāb Hisār, فرحیاب حصار, 'the felicitously acquired fort', was the name given to Chitaldrūg, in the north of Mysore. Only copper coins were issued from this mint from the fifth to the ninth years.

Kalikūt, کلیکوت, or Calicut, a seaport on the Malabar Coast, is the chief town of the Malabar District of the Madras Presidency. Gold fanams were issued here from the second to the fifth years, and a double-rupee in the fifth year. The copper coinage appeared from the second to the fifth years.

Farrukhī, فرحی, 'prosperity', a village now known as Feroke, situated at the mouth of the Beypore River, a few miles south of Calicut. It originated in an attempt which was made by Tipū in 1788 to destroy the city of Calicut and to erect a new capital on the Malabar Coast. Gold fanams and copper coins were struck here during the sixth, seventh, and eighth regnal years.

Khawrshed-sawād, خورشید سواد, the 'sun-blackened' place, is the fanciful title by which the town of Dhārwar, in the Dhārwar District of the Bombay Presidency, was designated by Tipū. The coins, which consist of pagodas, rupees, paiseas, and half paiseas were issued in the seventh and eighth years. A pagoda, fanam and rupee struck in the sixth year give the name of the mint as Dhārwar Khālīqābād خالی آباد, the town prospered of God was the name given to Dindigul, in the Madura District of the Madras Presidency. Gold fanams were struck here in the fifth and seventh regnal years, and copper coins from the fifth to the eighth years.

Zafarābād ظفر آباد the city of victory signifies the hill fort of Gurramkonda in the Cuddapah District of the Madras Presidency. The name was at first applied by Tipū to Mercara, the capital of Coorg, but subsequently and before the coins were issued was transferred to Gurramkonda. Copper coins only were struck at this mint from the fifth to the eighth regnal years.

Nazarbār نظربار scattering favour was the name given by Tipū to a fort which he erected close to the ancient city of Mysore which is now the capital of the State. As in the case of Calicut he hoped by destroying the old city and erecting a new one in the vicinity to remove the evidence of former Hindu power but both attempts failed and the older places were eventually rebuilt. Only copper coins were struck at this mint and the issue of these was confined to the sixth regnal year.

Salāmābād سلام آباد the city of peace was the town of Satya mangalam in the Coimbatore District of the Madras Presidency. The issues of this mint are confined to copper coins struck in the sixth, seventh and eighth years.

Be nazir بی نظیر the incomparable was according to Moor the name given by Tipū to the town of Holo Honnūr in the Shimoga District of Mysore. Moor has figured a paisea bearing the name of this mint and the date 1217 (seventh regnal year) but as it has not apparently been met with since his time the record is perhaps based on a misreading.

Balari بلاری or Bellary in the Bellary District of the Madras Presidency was the mint of issue of two or more varieties of coarsely executed and undated paiseas. They have been attributed to Haider but there is at least an equal amount of probability that they came from some temporary mint established in this place by Tipū.

The mint towns which were all carefully selected places of importance were at the height of their activity during the sixth, seventh and eighth years of Tipū's reign. The campaign under the command of Lord Cornwallis, which terminated in the capture of Seringapatam on 23rd February 1792, resulted in the closing of a number of mints, for from the year A.H. 1220, which commenced in March 1792, to the end of Tipū's reign, only Pattan, Nagar, and Faiz Hisār continued to issue coins. Certain coins from the Pattan, Nagar, Farrukh-yāb Hisār, and Farrukhī mints all bear the common epithet 'Dār al-Saltanat', دار السلطنة, or 'capital', and accordingly Tufnell has substituted for the more ordinary translation the expression 'royal residence'.

The Dates of Tipū's Coins.

All the coins issued during the first four regnal years bear the Hijrī or ordinary Muhammadan dates, those of the fourth year being dated A.H. 1200. In the fifth year, the coins of which are dated 1215, Tipū introduced his new or Maulūdī reckoning which continued to the end of his reign. The new era, as the name indicates, takes its origin from the birth and not from the flight of the Prophet, and the difference of fourteen years between the two reckonings is due to the fact that the older is based on lunar years of twelve lunar months each, while the Maulūdī is based on luni-solar years of twelve lunar months with intercalated or adhika months added at certain intervals. In making this change Tipū simply adopted the Hindu calendar which he found in common use in Mysore, replacing the Hindu names of the sixty cyclic years and of the months by Arabic names. The Maulūdī year began regularly at the same time as the Indian luni-solar year in Mysore, i.e. either in March or early in April, whereas the normal Muhammadan New Year's day, in course of time, may occur in any of the months of the Christian calendar. With the introduction of the Maulūdī system Tipū also effected a change in the order of placing the numerals which indicate the date. The usual order from left to right was reversed, thus the coins of the fourth year are dated ١٢ (A.H. 1200), while those of the fifth year are dated ١٢١ (A.M. 1215).

An examination of the dates on a number of Tipū's published letters, where the reckoning was made at one and the same time in both the Hijrī and Maulūdī systems, has established the fact that the year A.M. 1215 commenced on 20th March 1787, the first day of the Indian luni-solar year which was numbered 41 both in the Indian and in Tipū's calendar. Now the Hijrī year 1200 ended on 23rd October 1786, and there is consequently an addition of nearly five months, between the end of the fourth regnal year and the commencement of the fifth. It seems probable that the coins issued during this short intermediate period, if any were issued, were dated 1215 in anticipation of the new era, but it is also possible that a few coins which bear the date 1201, and are usually regarded as errors on the part of a die-engraver who was unaware of the introduction of the new era, were struck during this period.

The Arabs, like other eastern peoples, were in the habit of expressing numbers by means of letters of the alphabet, and in doing so took the Arabic letters corresponding to the twenty two letters of the Hebrew alphabet, hence the Abjad system of numeration, so named from its first four letters. This system, which is regularly employed by Muhammadans, was used by Tipu for the names of the cyclic years during the first four years of his reign. In the fifth year along with the introduction of the Mauludi era, he brought out a new system of naming the cyclic years known as the Abtath based on the consecutive order of the letters in the Arabic alphabet and deriving its title from the first four of these letters.

In the following table, which will help to clear some of the foregoing references is shown the date according to the Christian reckoning of the commencement of each year of Tipu's reign.

Of the two sets of names which Tipū invented for the twelve months of the year but little need be said, as there is only slight reference to them on the coins. On a number of coins (see nos 41, 52, 53, 60, &c., of the present catalogue) reference is made to the 3rd of Bahārī, the second month of the year in both sets of names, and on some of the coins the day and month are associated with the cyclic year 37, thus giving the complete date of Tipū's accession.

During the last four years of the reign the first four letters of the Arabic alphabet were used to signify dates on the copper coins. Thus ا stands for 1224, ب for 1225, ت for 1226, and ث for 1227. The letter, which occurs over the elephant on the obverse, is usually supplemented by the Maulūdī date on the reverse, more rarely on the obverse. It occasionally happens that the two dates do not correspond, and in such cases it may be assumed that the letter-year is the correct one.

The Coin Legends

In the earlier pagodas or fārūqīs (see no 126) the obverse bears merely ح, Ḥaidar's initial, the name of the mint, and the regnal year, though in no 42, which probably issued from Seringapatam, the name of the mint has been omitted. The reverse of these coins, in addition to the Hīrī date, bears the sentence هو السلطان العادل, 'He is the Sultān, the Just'. In the pagodas struck after A. M. 1215 (nos 43, 44, 45, and 198), the name of the coin also occurs on the obverse, and the reverse legend now reads محمد هو السلطان الوحيد العادل, 'Muhammad! He is the Sultān, the Unique, the Just'. The Khwaishad-sawād fārūqī (no 198) differs from the Pattan ones in the position of the ح, or Ḥaidar's initial. The gold fanams simply bear the initial letter on the obverse and the date and mint on the reverse.

The muhr or ahmadī and the half-muhr or sadīqī (no 41), in addition to recording the name of the coin, the mint, the cyclic year, and the date on the obverse, bear the legend

محمد دین احمد در جهان روش رفیع حیدر است ح

Muhammad! The faith of Ahmad has received lustre in the world from Fath Ḥaidar. ح¹

On the reverse of these coins is found the date of accession, the regnal year, and the sentence

هو السلطان الوحيد العادل

He is the Sultān, the Unique, the Just

Similar inscriptions to those recorded on the larger gold coins are met with on the double-rupee or hardari (nos. 52 and 53) the rupee or māmī (nos. 54 55 56, 57, 58 59 and 199) and the half rupee or ābūḍī (nos. 60 and 61), but in the earlier double-rupees (no 52) and rupees (no 54) the name محمد 'Muḥammad is omitted from the obverse. The quarter rupee or bāqarī (nos. 62 and 63) bears on the obverse محمد هو السلطان الوحيد العادل Muḥammad! He is the Sultān, the Unique, the Just together with the date-year while the reverse contains only the name of the coin, the regnal year and the name of the mint. On the smaller silver coins the inscriptions are still further reduced.

On the great majority of the copper coins only meagre inscriptions are met with. On most of them with the exception of those of the last four years and a few undated types the date rarely accompanied by the word سنة, year is placed above the elephant on the obverse. On certain Seringapatam paisas of A.M. 1221 1222 and 1223 the date is accompanied by the word مولودي, relating to the birth or more rarely the words مولود محمد the birth of Muhammad. In its simplest form the reverse inscription merely records the fact that the coin was struck at a certain mint, but in most of the double-paisas the title دار السلطنة capital or royal residence is prefixed to the name of the town. From A.M. 1221 to the end of the reign the special name of the coin is usually to be found on the reverse but from A.M. 1218 up to and including the former year the earlier name of the double-paisa occurs on coins of the Seringapatam mint. The coins of the last four regnal years have their distinctive letter rarely accompanied by the date above the elephant on the obverse. On the reverse of these coins there are fuller inscriptions than on any others of the copper series recording the name of the coin the mint and the Maulūdī year.

On the copper coins the elephant stands with its head either to the observers right or left. As a rule, to which however there are a good many exceptions, on the earlier coins up to the year A.M. 1221 the elephant faces the left while on the later coins it faces the right. It frequently happens that both conditions occur on different coins of the same year.

The gold and silver coins with the exception of a few double-rupees and rupees in which there is a rayed circle are surrounded by an ornamental border consisting of a double-lined circle enclosing a row of dots. The latter border is also found on most of the copper coins but there are numerous variations and the chief of these may be noted. A plain double-lined circle occurs on the obverse of the Bangalore coins and on a few of those from the Nagar and Calicut mints.

The double circle encloses a ring of oblique dashes in the issues of Farrukh-yāb Hisār and some of those of Khālīqābād, while in a few of the Farrukhī coins the dashes are curved. The earlier Faiz Hisār coins show groups of four dots between the lines, and the Khwurshed-sawād coins have dots arranged in groups of three. A rayed circle with two boundary lines occurs on the Salāmābād coins, and in a few of the Farrukh-yāb Hisār and Zafarābād issues there occur respectively a treble-lined circle and groups of three short parallel lines between the two usual boundary lines. The peculiar milling, found with few exceptions (see nos. 42, 126, 198) on the larger gold and silver coins of Tipū Sultān, consists of a single or double series of short indented lines following the circumference of the coin. These lines are interrupted by cross depressions which give a slight crenated appearance to the edge of the coin. In a few cases a rough type of milling is produced by a series of oblique transverse cuts across the edge.

The coins of Ḥaidar 'Alī and Tipū Sultān are still found in great variety and numbers, and this fact, together with their historical and even artistic merits, has no doubt contributed to their popularity with coin-collectors. With the exception of the pagoda and to a lesser extent the paisa of A H 1195, none of Ḥaidar's coins is now commonly met with. Of Tipū's gold and silver coinage only certain of the pagodas, fanams, rupees, and half-rupees are commonly met with, while the double-rupee and the smaller silver coins are all more or less rare, and the muhr and half-muhr extremely rare. Many of Tipū's copper coins, particularly from the Seringapatam mint, but also from Nagar, Bangalore, Faiz Hisār, and Farrukh-yāb Hisār, are still met with in abundance. On the other hand, the issues of Salāmābād, Nazarbār, and Zafarābād are all rare. All the double-paisas are rare, with the exception perhaps of the one struck at Seringapatam in A M 1225, and none of the one-eighth paisas is now commonly met with.

C THE LATER HINDU SERIES

Soon after the death of Tipū Sultān, at the capture of Seringapatam on 4th May 1799, the Hindu Rāj of Mysore was restored in the person of Krishna Rāja Wodeyar, then a child six years of age. The Diwān Pūrnaiya who had been a successful administrator under Tipū was appointed Regent, but he died in 1812. Krishna Rāja before long proved hopelessly incapable as a ruler, and in 1831 the management of the State was placed under the Mysore Commission and the Raja received a fixed annual income up to his death in 1868.

The gold coins of this period consist of pagodas, half pagodas, and fanams, following the Vijayanagar type with seated figures of Śiva and Pārvatī on the obverse and the ruler's name in Devanāgarī characters on the reverse. As already mentioned a recoinage of the old Canteroy fanam was also made.

The larger silver coins, viz. the rupee, with its half and quarter follow the type issued by the English and French East India Companies, and these coins bear the name of the Mughal Emperor, Shāh Ālam II. Like the French Arcot coins struck at Pondicherry they have a crescent as mint-mark, and in examples where the name of the mint has not fallen on the coin the Rāja rupees and their divisions are apt to be mistaken for French coins. In addition to the date the obverse bears portions of the usual inscription

سکه رد برتقت کور ساء فضل اله
حامي دين محمد ساء عالم بادشاه

Reflection (shadow) of divine excellence, Defender of the Muhammadan faith, the Emperor Shāh Ālam struck this coin to be current throughout the seven climes.

On the reverse is found along with a regnal year which is usually glaringly incorrect so far as Shāh Ālam is concerned the legend

مانوس ضرب مهي سور ساء (--)-- طوس موبت

struck at Mysore in the (--)-- year of his auspicious reign

In addition to these coins there are also quarter one-eighth and one-sixteenth rupees, with a dancing figure of Chāmundi otherwise known as Durgā or Kālī, the tutelary goddess of Krishna Rāja, on the obverse. The quarter rupee of this series bears the name of the Rāja, the date, and the mint in Persian on the reverse while the smaller coins simply give the value and the word mayilā in Kanarese. The meaning of this word which is also extensively used on the copper coins, is not very clear. According to Rice (Mysore Gazetteer 1897) it may mean Mayi a contraction for Mayisur (Mysore) and is the locative suffix.

The earliest copper coin is probably the one kash or five-cash piece with an elephant accompanied by the sun and moon on the obverse and the name of the ruler in Devanāgarī characters on the reverse. This was followed by the mayilā kash series of forty twenty ten and five cash also with an elephant obverse. The word śri in Kanarese is found between the sun and moon, and still later the word Chāmundi was added. The reverse of these coins at first bore inscriptions in Kanarese and English giving the words mayilā kash and the value but later the letters Chā (Kan.), and still later the word Kṛṣṇa (Kan.), were added.

The mayīlī kāsu series of twenty-five, twelve-and-a-half, and six-and-a-quarter cash, have the figure of a lion on the obverse, with the sun and moon and Śrī Chāmundī (Kan.), or in the two smaller coins with the word Chāmundī omitted. The reverse of the twenty-five cash piece bears the words Kṛṣṇa mayīlī kāsu and the value in Kanarese, together with the value in English and سرب مہی سور, 'struck at Mysore'. In the two smaller coins the inscriptions are abbreviated and the English one omitted. On these coins and also on the elephant series the English words are frequently strangely blundered.

While the earlier coins were struck at the capital town, Mysore, the latest ones, issued from 1833 to 1843, when an independent coinage for the State came to an end, were coined at Bangalore, although the name of the earlier mint still occurs on their reverse. This series consists of twenty, ten, five, and two and a half cash pieces, and their obverse contains the figure of a lion with the words Śrī Chāmundī (Kan.) above, shortened to Śrī in the three smaller coins, and the English date below. The reverse has inscriptions in Kanarese, English, and Persian, similar to those of the earlier lion series, but with the word Mūlay or more often Melee in English characters added in the case of the twenty-cash piece.

The majority of the coins of Kṛṣṇa Rāja are still met with in considerable abundance. Among those, however, which are more difficult to obtain may be mentioned the half-pagoda, forty-cash piece, and the elephant cash with a Dēvanāgarī inscription on the reverse (no 227).

For assistance in drawing up these notes I am indebted to the work of numerous writers. I desire specially to acknowledge my obligation to the valuable brochure on the 'Coins of Tipū Sultān', by the Rev G P Taylor, D D (Occasional Memoirs of the Numismatic Society of India, 1914).

MISCELLANEOUS SOUTH INDIAN COINS

INTRODUCTION

The coins here catalogued are arranged in four groups —

- I. Coins issued by the French Compagnie des Indes
- II. Coins of the East India Company,
- III. Coins of Travancore, Cochin, and Pudukkottai States,
- IV. A coin of one of the Āli Rājas of Cannanore.

The coins of the first series, with the exception of a good set of rupees, are by no means representative of the issues from the Pondicherry mint. Those of the East India Company exhibit still greater deficiencies and are practically confined to the silver coins issued nominally from the Arcot mint and the one-fifth rupees which circulated on the Malabar Coast. The coins of Mysore are dealt with separately in this volume those of Travancore and Cochin comprise only a few of the more modern types, and some coins from the former State have already appeared in the first volume of this Catalogue. These and other South Indian coins, notably some of the gold pagodas are figured on Plate XXX of that volume.

The French obtained the right to coin rupees from Nawāb Dost Ali Khān of Arcot in 1736 and the actual coinage commenced at Pondicherry in December of that year (Diary of Ananda Ranga Pillai vol 1 p 8) i e in the year 1149 A.H., or the nineteenth year of the reign of Muhammad Shāh. These rupees, which bear the distinctive mark of a crescent were continued in the reigns of Ahmad Shāh Ālamgir II and Shāh Ālam II except during the periods 1761-3 1778-83 1793-1802, and 1803-16 when Pondicherry was in British occupation. After the last restoration of the town coinage was resumed in 1817 and the rupees from this period onwards up to 1839 when the mint was finally closed bear the date 1221 A.H. and the forty fifth or last regnal year of Shāh Ālam (A.D. 1806). The same inscription is met with on the obverse of these coins in the case of the first three emperors while a different one is met with in those of Shāh Ālam the reverse inscription is the same in all. The collection does not contain any examples of the half or other divisions of the rupee and it may be added that these coins are still unrepresented in the Maṣālik al-Jamā.

One of the most interesting coins in the collection is the first of the rupees (No 34) which bears the inscription Ṣayyid al-Mulk al-Maṣṣar (Sultan of the Malabar Coast) and is dated 1149 A.H.

It differs from all the other coins of the Pondicherry mint in having a milled edge, and the size of the flan enables the entire inscription to be shown on each side. The rarity of this coin suggests that it may have been prepared experimentally, and in any case the distinctive peculiarities would probably handicap its use among people who were accustomed to thick unmilled coins. The Mahé fanams, of which five went to a rupee, exhibit on the obverse the quaint legend فرانس کپنی (Fians Kanpani = French Company), while the reverse bears the Hindustani name of the mint-town بھلچری (Bhulcheri = Pondicherry), the letter P and the date.

The Indo-French copper coins are represented by three dudus or four-kas pieces and a single-kas, all bearing the name of the mint-town in Tamil on the reverse. The only single-kas in the collection belongs to a type which is attributed by Zay to the Dutch, during their occupation of Pondicherry from 1693 to 1698, because it bears the so-called Kālī symbol which appears on the Negapatam copper coins. This device, which is possibly a very degenerate representation of the human figure found on many Chola, Pandyan, and Ceylon coins, was perhaps copied by the Dutch from the Tanjore gold fanams, but as the coin in question is still met with in considerable numbers it appears not unlikely that it was a true French issue.

The coins of the East India Company without date or indication of the mint, although they were all issued from Madras, consist of the single and half-fanams first struck during the reign of Charles II, and a small selection of the series with value expressed in English, Persian, Tamil, and Telugu, which appeared between 1807 and 1812. The two-anna piece (No 7) is noticeable on account of its rarity.

The Company obtained permission to coin Arcot rupees from the Nawāb Sadutalla Khān Bahādur, Subah of Arcot, in November 1742, but the right does not appear to have been exercised till 1759, as the earliest coins bear the name of 'Ālamgīr II and the sixth year of his reign. The thick unmilled rupee was probably in circulation from the latter date till its supersession by the oblique milled coins, early in the nineteenth century. The exact date on which the oblique or earliest milling was introduced has not been recorded, but it was followed in 1818 by the indented-cord variety. All the Arcot coins minted at Madras bear the lotus flower mint-mark, while the set issued from 1823 to 1825 at the Calcutta mint carries a cinquefoil, the larger coins of this issue are provided with straight milling, but in the two- and one-anna pieces it is oblique. Attention may be directed to two of the coins of the Arcot series (Nos 13 and 17), in which there is an error in the date. It will be seen that while the old Arcot rupee weighed 177 grains, the oblique milled rupee was as much as ten grains in excess of this, and finally in the coins struck from 1818 onwards the weight was reduced to 180 grains. The coin numbered 21 is of quarter rupee size, but weighs only 28½ grains and is perhaps a proof, the rupee No. 11 and half rupee No. 19 possibly belong to the same category and were in all probability not issued for use.

The silver coins which circulated on the Malabar Coast were struck at Bombay and like the Mahé fanam already referred to were equivalent in value to one-fifth of a rupee. They comprise two varieties which were issued in 1799 and 1805 respectively for Tellicherry and a third older type without direct evidence of locality which is usually attributed to Cannanore, though it probably had a wider circulation. This last coin appears to have been first issued during the reign of Muhammad Shāh, and a specimen bearing the date 1181 A.H. (A.D. 1719) and the mint name مبئی (Munbai = Bombay) is known (vide S. Lane-Poole, Coins of the Moghul Emperors of Hindustan in the Brit Mus., Pl. XXXI No. 68)¹

The small series of Native State coins presents few features of interest those of Travancore are all modern while those of Cochin have already been described by Sir Walter Elliot. Of the latter State there are two varieties of double- and single-puttuns, viz. an earlier type coined from about 1790 onwards with the curious arrangement of lines and dots met with on the well known Varāṇsī gold fanams which has been variously interpreted as representing a cannon and shot a plough or the signs of the zodiac and a later type coined in 1856-8 with the figure of Śiva. The two Pudukkottai coins, which represent the complete coinage of this State consist of an earlier variety minted locally and a later one coined in England since about 1890 each being equal in value to one twentieth of an anna. Although the language of the State is Tamil the coins bear a Telugu inscription copied from some of the small Nayaka coins which previously had an extensive circulation in the neighbouring parts of Southern India.

The Āli Rājas or lords of the deep² so called from their sovereignty over the Laccadive Islands were Muhammadan chiefs of some importance at Cannanore on whom the above title is said to have been conferred in the middle of the sixteenth century. Their silver coins which frequently bear Hinduised date were according to Marden, issued at any rate as early as 1531 and as late as 1788 like the earlier Ea India Company and French Malabar coins with which they no doubt competed their value was usually of

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

THE coins described in this Section of the Catalogue are those struck at the mints of the various Native States in the Bombay Presidency and Western India generally, Rajputana and Central India. The series is far from being complete but is fairly representative, although some of the smaller States are still unrepresented in the collection

These coins have been much neglected in the past, when information could have been more easily gathered, numismatists therefore owe a big debt of gratitude to James T Prinsep for his essay entitled 'Useful Tables' published in 1834 by the Asiatic Society of Bengal. Since Prinsep's day, the neglect by other writers on Indian coins of this series has lost much information which can probably never be regained

The decline of the Mughal Empire and the corresponding rise first of the Marāthās, and then of British power, marks the beginning of the period when the Native States began to issue their own coins, although some of the Hindu States may claim a greater antiquity, a century and a half practically covers the period of issue of the coins in this volume

The right of striking coins had been jealously guarded by the Mughal rulers, but as their power declined the States that arose gradually assumed the right of striking their own currency. For economic perhaps as much as political reasons, these coins were at first issued in the prevailing Imperial type, usually that of Shāh 'Ālam, with the addition of a characteristic ornament or letter. This fact constitutes one of the most serious of the difficulties in allocating these coins, for it is not till nearly the end of the Mughal empire that the Emperor's name disappears from the coins of States which had long ceased to owe any allegiance to him. The types were frequently continued long after the death of the Mughal Emperor, and we have frequently impossible combinations of regnal and Hijra dates

Less difficulty is experienced in attributing those currencies, chiefly of a later date, which bear the name and titles of the local rulers, &c, sometimes in several languages. Some inscriptions are bi-lingual, and in one case (Jāora) tri-lingual, the three different eras of Samvat, Hijra, and Anno Domini are sometimes inscribed on the same coin, and the date of each era is written in its own distinctive numerals. In this matter of dates many other anomalies exist for example, the coins of Karauli State have the date A.D. in Persian numerals, these characters also being used for a date in the Samvat era on a coin of Indore. As the die used was regularly much larger than the flan it is very usual to find the most necessary part of the legend omitted from a coin namely the mint name which is in most cases either at the extreme top or bottom of the die.

A further difficulty arises when the type of coin struck in one State is closely imitated by its neighbour. This occurs, for example in the Bundi Kotah series. The imitation of an older coin with the addition of a word or two is not unusual.

In Kutch and Kāthiāwār the coins of the later Sultāns of Gujarāt were adopted Kutch using the type of Mahmūd Shāh while Nawānagar and Porbandar took for their currency that of Muzaffar Shāh III a Nāgari inscription in the exergue indicating the actual issuer of the coin.

The ornaments in the field of a coin are sometimes an aid to its identification. Although many of the coins are identifiable from these too great a reliance must not be put upon them. The mark or ornament most frequently met with is the trident or trisul of Siva but flags, sceptres and swords are in great favour. The imperial umbrella or canopy is found on many and was significant of the close affinity of the State using it to the paramount power formerly Mughal but latterly British. Other insignia of royalty found on the coins form a distinguishing feature and in many cases denote a particular ruler each ruler having his own special symbol. The coins of Bikanir State are a good instance of this the later issues having some five or six symbols, each one being typical of a different ruler.

The growth of British influence among the Native States is generally traceable on their coins. As far back as 1819 Bawa State struck coins with the name of the British Agent in charge there to show its loyalty. Bhartpur in 1838 issued coins with the head of Queen Victoria and her name and titles in Persian around whilst in 1847 Bundi began a series, issued for several years on which the words

Queen Victoria were inscribed and the Christian religion given. During the next decade the paramount power was recognized on the coins of many States. The inscription in both Persian and Sanskrit acknowledged Her Majesty Victoria as Queen of India as Kaisar-i-Hind (Empress of India). The practice continued in the reign of Edward VII.

There are at least one hundred Native States the subjects of which nearly all of them claimed the right of striking their own money after their adhesion to Britain. This right was conceded to those who could vindicate their claim, but the numberless currencies in circulation caused much inconvenience. For a long time a uniform currency was demanded by traders. The Indian Government, therefore, in 1876, passed an Act in which they offered to strike, free of charge, coins for the Native States where the metal was sent for that purpose by the States to the Government mints. These coins were to be of a weight and fineness uniform with the British Indian currency, and were to be considered as legal tender anywhere in India. At this period thirty-four States still retained the privilege of coining, but Alwar and Bikanir alone accepted the conditions of the Act before its expiry, in 1893. The closing of the Government mints to free coinage, however, caused such a depreciation in the value of the Native States rupees that the Government were induced to agree to purchase at their market value the rupees of all those States who suffered thereby, on condition that they surrendered the right of coinage.

Most of them took advantage of the offer, and in answer to an inquiry of mine to the Government of India in 1913 concerning this matter, it was stated that the following States were the only ones remaining at that date which still possessed the privilege of coining their own money.

Haidarābād, Udaipur, Jaipur, Tonk, Orchhā, and Travancore in silver and copper, Kutch, Jaisalmir and Kishangarh in silver only while Gwalior, Ratlām, and the Baroda Prant struck copper coins only.

The rupee is the currency unit throughout the whole of the Native States in this section with the exception of Kutch and Kāthiāwār.

The following is the usual table

3 pāi	equal	1 paisa
12 paisa	„	1 anna.
16 annas	„	1 rupee
16 rupees	,	1 muhr

Pāis and paisa and annas (generally) are of copper, rupees are of silver, and muhrs of gold. In Kutch and Kāthiāwār, the silver kōī is in use with its subdivision of 16 copper dhinglās.

A handbook dealing fully with the subject of the coins struck and used in the Native States and written by a competent authority is greatly needed. Much good work has however been done by the writers of the undermentioned works, which, although they do not cover the whole ground, have proved of valuable assistance in the preparation of this Catalogue, and as I have made full use of them I am anxious to acknowledge my indebtedness to their authors.

The rulers of this Marāthā State are distinguished by the title of Gāikwārā Dāmājī, the founder of the line, being the son of a gāikwār or cowherd. He so distinguished himself at the battle of Bālāpur in Bejar, in 1721, between the forces of the Mughal emperor Muhammad Shāh and those of the Nizām-al-mulk, deposed Viceroy of the Dekkan, that the Commander-in-Chief of the Marāthā army assisting the Nizām-al-mulk appointed him his second in command and gave him the title of 'Shamsher Bahādur' (distinguished swordsman).

About two years after this event Dāmājī died, his nephew Pilāji Rāo Gāikwār succeeding him in his lieutenancy to Trimbak Rāo the Senāpatī. Their marauding expeditions in the neighbourhood of Gujarāt and collection of tolls on their own account met with the strong disapproval of the Peshwā, Bājī Rāo, the nominal ruler of the Marāthās, and in a battle fought near Baroda in 1731, the marauders and several other Marāthā chiefs who supported them were defeated and Trimbak Rāo killed. After the submission of the rebels an arrangement was made regarding the revenue accruing from the conquered territory, the infant son of Trimbak Rāo was made Senāpatī, and Pilāji constituted Mutālq, or agent for the infant with the additional title of 'Sena Khās Khel' (leader of the Sovereign band). The new authority was given the entire management of affairs in Gujarāt, but had to contribute half of the revenues to the Peshwā. Thus was laid the foundation of the present State. Baroda the capital came into their hands in 1732, the same year seeing the assassination of Pilāji and the accession of his son Dāmājī Rāo Gāikwār (II).

The coins of Baroda contained in the Indian Museum begin with those issued by Ānand Rāo and one appears to be known of earlier date. The type of these coins is of a distinctive character and was continued by his immediate successors.

The legends are in Persian and give the name and titles of the Mughal emperor Muhammad Akbar II his regnal year the Hijri date and two Nāgarī characters. The first of the characters represents the initial letter of the reigning Gāikwār's name together with the sign of abbreviation, आ for Ānand स for Sayājī, ग for Ganpat and so on. The meaning of the second letter आ (jā) on Ānand's coins is obscure but the ग (gā) found on the coins of all the other rulers to Sayājī III is recognized as representing the initial letter Gā of Gāikwār. The scimitar occupies a prominent position on these and all other coins of Baroda.

During the reign of Sayājī II copper coins of several different types were struck in addition to the preceding but are not represented in this collection. Various symbols appear on them but all have the स for Sayājī. These symbols include a sunface a circle with rays a large flag a flag with two streamers a flower a scimitar a large leaf and one with an elephant. A further type in copper issued by Sayājī II with the legends of Muhammad Akbar has as its device on the reverse a kind of ball with vertical line which Dr G I Taylor in the article¹ on Baroda suggests may represent a shield or perhaps an elephant's footprint. The same type was also issued by his successors Ganpat Rāo and Khande Rāo.

After the suppression of the Indian Mutiny the Mughal emperor's name was removed from the coins and replaced by the family title of the Gāikwār Senā Khān Khel Shāh her Bālākhān. This change was made by Khande Rāo. Persian was at first still retained but later the same ruler issued rupees of a European type with his name and titles and motto in Marāṭhī on one side and his name in ḥindī and lāz in Persian on the other.

All the coins of Baroda from this time onward bear the local dynasty title those of Mallāh Rāo and the early coins of Sayājī III in Persian. The later coins of this ruler have a portrait of the Gāikwār on the rupee and its fraction while the copper coins have a horse's hoof and scimitar as reverse type. The later coin series are entirely in Marāṭhī with a Sanskrit śloka.

No gold coins have been struck at Baroda since the time of Senā Khān Khel Shāh.

BHAUNAGAR

Capital Bhaunagar (21° 45' N., 72° 12' E.)

The rulers of this Kāthiāwār State are of the Gohel clan of Rajputs and bear the title of Thākur. They trace a long lineage from Śālivāhana (A.D. 77) down to Bhāusinghji who founded the present dynasty.

Ruler	A.D.	Number of coins in collection
Vakhatsinghji	1772-1816	12	Total 2

The coins of this State are very uncommon and so far as known of copper only. The Shāh Jahān mentioned on them is probably the usurper to the Mughal throne of Delhi, Shāh Jahān III who was proclaimed him as emperor after the murder of Aurangzib in 1709. The word Bāhādur in Nāgarī seems out of place on the coin and with the G 1 below awaits an explanation. The mint was closed in 1816 by order of the British Government.

The following statement under the heading of Bhavnagar is found in Hamilton's Last India Gazetteer (Vol. 3). The currency is not very creditable manufacture having been established at what is a mint for the fabrication of law rupees which were in circulation on the coinage of the Government. It is stated that the native bankers have been closed. In 1816 the Government of Bombay reported of the mint at the present time that it was in a state of ruin.

Capital, Cambay (22° 18' 30" N , 72° 40' E).

This State is in the province of Gujarāt, and its chief city Cambay or Khānbāyat is at the head of the Gulf of Cambay. Its rulers are Muhammadans of the Shīa' sect and bear the title of Nawāb.

Ruler	A.D	Number of coins in collection
Ja'afar 'Alī Khānjī	1841-1881	Æ 2 Total 2

Coins were struck at this mint by the Mughal Emperors from Shāh Jahān to 'Ālam II inclusive. On these it is always written Khanbāyat

The founder of the present dynasty was Mirza Ja'afar Khān, a former Governor of Gujarāt, but no coins are known earlier than the silver piece of Ja'afar 'Alī described below

In the cabinet of Mr. A. Master, ICS, are some paīsa struck at Cambay, of which he has kindly sent me a description. Several have the words 'Srī sal' or 'sava' in the Gujarātī character struck incuse with blank reverse, others have the same obverse and شاه on reverse, while another with the same reverse has on its obverse the legend Sri Jānabhat bandar san 1948 nt sal (blessed port of Cambay year of sambat, 1948 = A.D. 1891) in Gujarātī. All of these are thick dumpy pieces of irregular form but a further variety is of the modern circular thin type reading on obverse رأس کباب and Paasa san 1963 in Gujarātī on the reverse.

CHHOTA UDAIPUR

Principal town Chhota Udaipur (22° 20' N., 74° 11' E.)

This State was founded in 1484 by some Chaulukya Rajas who on their expulsion from their ancient territories at Ajmer in 1481 took refuge in the Chaulukya territory from which they were driven out by Mahmūd of Ghazni's soldiers in their power.

Little of the history was recorded by any of the writers whose names are unknown. In the three years before the British took possession of the State in 1818 the British were at the time of the British.

The only coin in this collection is a two-paīsa copper piece, with legends in the Gujarātī character. The 'one' paīsa is known, as are also some of earlier type and larger in size. There are several in the British Museum cabinet, and in Lord Grantley's collection was one weighing 224 grains. All are recognized as belonging to this State, but the Gujarātī legends they bear form such a confusing jumble that it is difficult either to read or describe them.

JANJĪRA

Capital, Janjira (18° 18' N, 73° E)

The rulers of this State bear the title of Nawāb. They possessed themselves of the island of Janjira and the fort of Dandā Rājpūr about A. D. 1189, subsequently coming under the rule of the Kings of Like many cities of the Native States, Junāgarh was a mint under the Mughāl Emperors, coins being struck here from the reign of Shāh Jahān to Muhammad Shāh. The coins of the present dynasty began, it is believed, in 1829, and we are told by Dr. O. Codrington in his article on 'The Coinages of Kutch and Kāthiāwār'¹ that the then Dīwān designed the first coin, which had on the obverse श्री हाटकेश्वराय नमः, and on the reverse श्री रघुनाथाजी नमः, but as these legends were salutations to Hindu gods the Muhammadan Nawāb forbade its circulation. This coin is not represented in this collection. The Dīwān then issued the coin called the 'Dīwān Sāi Kori', which, with little alteration, was continued until 1875. Dr. Codrington points out that the बा (Bā) stands for the initial letters of the Bābī family and गड़ (gad) represents Junāgad, the name of the place. The same type was issued in copper, but the copper coins in the Museum are of a later date and different type, and are bilingual. The allusion on them to सोरठ सरकार (Sōratha sarkāra) is doubtless a reminder that Junāgarh, with the other chiefships, Porbandar and Jetpūr, is in the Sōrath division of Kāthiāwār.

KOLHĀPUR

Capital Kolhāpur (16° 42' N., 17° 16' E)

The present Rājā of this State traces his descent from the great Sivajī founder of the Kingdom of SĀTARA and of Marāṭhā power in India. Kolhāpur formerly formed part of the kingdom but broke away from the parent State in 1731 and was recognised as independent.

On the death of Sivajī's grandson in 1760 the direct line became extinct. One of the Bhonsla family was adopted as heir and bore the name of Sivajī.

The period in which the Panhāla rupee or 'Hukarī' was first struck cannot be stated with certainty, but the legends upon it show that it was issued not earlier than the reign of the Emperor Shāh 'Ālam, 1759-1806

Minor varieties may be distinguished

Prinsep in his 'Useful Tables' gives two mints, Panhāla and Marech (Mirāj, Sātāra States) In his manuscript book of impressions of casts from the coins¹ he illustrates a third one, Maraulī.

The Hon Justice Ranade, in a paper read to the Bombay Asiatic Society, says 'This mint (Panhāla) was subsequently removed to Kolhāpur, when the Rājās made it their capital, and this Kolhāpur mint continued in working order till about 1850 The Panhāla and the other rupees continued in circulation till 1860, when all the local currencies were withdrawn and sent to the Bank of Bombay to be coined into Queen's rupees² According to the Imperial Gazetteer, xv, p 386, the Kolhāpur mint was abolished in 1839.

Capital Bhūj (23° 15 N., 69° 48 30" E.)

Kutch Cutch (or Kachchh the sea-coast land) is a Native State in Gujarāt province, of which Bhūj is the capital. Its rulers are known as Rāos and are a branch of the Jarejā Rājputs. They are said to have come from Sind in the fifteenth century and at first were divided into three branches but in 1540 Khengārjī succeeded in making him self sole master.

Kutch, Porbandar, and Nawānagar, as previously mentioned, have a currency system peculiarly their own. The unit is the silver korī and bears no historical relation to the rupee, which is equal to about $2\frac{1}{2}$ korīs. Coins of lesser value are the half-korī in silver and the dhingla, dokda, and trambīya in copper. Two of the last equal one dokda, and three one dhingla, while twenty-four dokdas go to the korī. Gold korīs have also been struck. The early coins of this State were copied from those of Mahmūd Shāh II of Gujarāt, of which Kutch formed part. Bhārmalji II seems to have adopted those of Āhmad Shāh II as his model, but Desalji II broke away entirely from the Gujarāt type and fell into line with most of the States in acknowledging Muhammad Akbar on his coins as supreme ruler. The Mughal Emperor's name appeared on the coins until the Mutiny, but Prāgmālji II shortly after issued a very handsome coinage bearing the name and titles of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, copied later by his successor, Khengārji III, until 1877, when the change of title from ملك معظّم to that of قيصر هند was shown on the coins.

NAWĀNAGAR

Capital, Nawānagar (22° 26' 30" N, 70° 16' 30" E)

This State is in the north-west of the Kāthiāwār peninsula, and was founded by one Jām Raval in 1540. Its rulers are called Jāms and are Jadeja Rājputs.

The coins of this State, until some twenty years ago were all of one type and that a borrowed one. The design was taken from a Gujarāt coin of Muḡaffar Shāh III, reading مظفر شاه السلطان (cf. I M Cat., vol. II Pl. X 109) Below this was added in Nāgarī श्री बामजी on the reverse. This type was copied and re-copied until little remained of the original design except the vertical strokes. Coins of this type were struck at various times in gold, silver and copper. About the middle of Vibhāji's reign a change was made. The obverse has the ruler's name &c., &c. श्री बाम विमाजी and the reverse the denomination कौरो १ and mint नवानगर above and Samvat १९३६ below. Another issue later appeared with a partial reversion to the earlier type, مظفر شاه given, accompanied with बामजी the reverse showing still more of the early legends, only सं १९४६ appearing in Nāgarī below the Persian inscription to mark the change from the conventional type. A fine series of copper coins were issued during the same ruler's reign.

RĀDHANPUR

Capital Rādhānpur (23° 49' 30" N., 71° 38' 40" E.)

This State is in the Palanpur division and, like Junāgarh, is ruled by a descendant of the celebrated Bābī family. The head of the family was Bahādur Khān, a Persian by race one of whose descendants, Jāfar Khān received a grant of Rādhānpur and other districts from the Emperor Aurangzeb in 1728. This prince's grandson, Jāwān Mardā Khān was appointed Governor of Gujarāt, with the title of Nawāb by Muḥammad Shāh, the reigning Emperor.

No coins are known of this mint previous to the reign of Zorāwar when they were struck in the three metals.

The obverse gives the name or title of Victoria, the reverse those of the reigning rāja. Copper paṣa are known of both Zorāwar and Bismilla. They are thick and mis-shapen with uniface impressions of गौ and श्री. There is also a quarter anna of similar type to No. 261, but dated 1840.

MARĀTHĀ STATES

SĀTĀRA

Capital Sātāra (17° 41' 25" N., 74° 2' 10' E.)

Sātāra, which is now entirely in British hands, was formerly the centre of Marāthā power the great Sivaji being its founder¹. At his death in 1680 practically the whole of the Konkan from Gandāvi in the north to Ponda in the south was under his rule, as well as several provinces in the interior. The decay of the Mughal Empire from 1700 to 1750 marks the period during which the Marāthās gradually rose to supremacy. About the same period the rule of the Sātāra rājās over the Marāthās declined and gave way before the Peshwās, or Mayors of the Palace. Balaji, the first Peshwā usurping power at the expense of his master.

The rule of the Peshwā was, however not supreme, for as the Marāthā power grew other Hindu leaders joined, and thus formed a great Marāthā confederation which in 1795 had reached its zenith, and assumed such large proportions that it dominated all Central India. The leaders of this confederation were the ancestors of most of the Marāthā rulers of to-day comprising the Holkar of Indore the Sindhus of Gwālior the Gāekwār of Baroda, the Pār family of Dewās and Dhār and the Bhonslas of Nagpūr. Although the power of the confederacy was broken by the Afghān invader Ahmad Shāh at Panipat, in 1761 it was not until their defeat by the British in 1818 that the confederacy was dissolved. In 1822 the Sātāra territory was handed to the titular Rājū by the British, but in consequence of his intrigues he was deposed in 1839. His brother was then placed on the throne, but dying in 1848 without a male heir the control of the State was resumed by the British.

In his article on the 'Currencies and Mints under Marāthā rule'¹ Mr. Justice Ranade asserts that gold, silver, and copper coins were struck by Sivājī at Rāṅgad, where his mint was set up no satisfactory attribution of coins to Sivājī has yet been made. The copper coins of the State are called Shivāiāyī paīsa on account of the inscription they bear, and were current for a century or more. The name 'Shīva' on them is variously written शिव, शीव, सिव, सीव, and the termination 'pati' of 'Chatrapati' छात्रपति is often found bungled. Mr. Ranade continues, 'As regards the silver rupee coined at Rāṅgad, it is impossible to say what inscription it bore, as no specimens of Sivājī's rupee are now available. The likelihood is that it had Persian inscriptions, because all the later coins issued under the authority of the Peshwā's and the great Marāthā chiefs bore such inscriptions'. Shāhu set up a mint at Sātāra from which gold, silver, and copper coins were issued, but after his death (1749) it was transferred to Poona by the Peshwās. A mint was also opened at Bagalkot (Bijapur district) in about 1753 and the Mulharshāhī rupee struck there. In the reign of the last Peshwā, Bajī Rāo, the Chandorī rupee took the place of the Mulharshāhī and was coined both at Poona and Sātāra, the Poona mint being finally closed in 1835 and the Bagalkot and Srī Sikkā rupees of Kolaba withdrawn from circulation². None of these coins has been identified so far except perhaps the last, which seems to agree in description with Prinsep's (q v) Wabjaum issues.

Many small mints were in existence in the Southern Marāthā territory, but were all closed in 1765 and a central one opened at Dhārwar. The coins struck at Kolaba, Sanglī, Mirāj, and Panhāla have been mentioned under the headings of Janjīra and Kolhāpur, while those here catalogued belong more particularly to the Kingdom of Sātāra.

NIPĀNI

Nipāni (16° 28' 40" N 74° 25' 10" E.)

This town is in Belgaum Bombay Presidency and was annexed in 1842 but was a Marāṭhā mint in former times. The coins struck there were identified by Prinsep and are mentioned by him in his Useful Tables. The coins of Nipāni and Pirkāni seem identical.

Wai (17° 56' 50" N., 73° 56' E.).

This is the chief town of Wai, sub-division of Sātāra district, Bombay Presidency. Mr. Ranade says that 'The Ankushi rupee, so-called on account of the ankush or elephant goad which it bore on the inscription, was issued by the Rastes from their mint at Vāi (Wai)'.¹ Prinsep says the 'Ankosi' or 'Chinsoory' rupee was struck at Poona.² There is little doubt that this coin had a very large circulation in Sātāra and Kolhāpur, and small variations in type suggest its being imitated by various neighbouring mints.

POONA

Poona ($18^{\circ} 30' 41''$ N., $73^{\circ} 55' 21''$ E.)

Chief town of Poona District, Bombay Presidency The Marāthā coins of the mint are common, but show little variety Copper paise known as the 'Spectacles pice' from their containing a mint-mark like a pair of spectacles or scissors in their inscription, are mentioned by Prinsep and the piece in this Catalogue besides having the same mark has been read as ضرب دینار 1 e. struck at Poona, but the date, 1244 A.H. (A.D. 1828) raises a difficulty, as on the deposition of the Peshwā Bājī Rāo in 1818 the city became British

Surāt (the city) ($21^{\circ} 9' 30''$ N. $72^{\circ} 54' 15''$ E.)

The rupee catalogued here was identified by Prinsep as of Nagpur mintage in his Useful Tables, and illustrated on Pl. II No. 10 but a similar piece which shows the mint plainly gave Mr. Nelson Wright the opportunity of finally locating it. It is to be found in vol. III of this Catalogue, Pl. LVII No. 2080. He suggests that it may have been struck at Bombay by the East India Company. As however the Marāthās were in power at this period¹ up to the very walls of Surāt it is more than probable that these coins were struck by them as the mint-mark suggests.

AJMIR

Ajmir was a regular mint of the Mughal emperors down to the reign of Shah Ālam II. Coins 1-2 (Pl. XVII. 2) are struck in the name of the latter presumably the latest issue for the Rathors of Jodhpur. No 3 (Pl. XVII. 1) is the Śrīśāhi of Ajmir said by Prinsep to have been introduced by Tanta¹. While the ghār (گار) suggests Jaipur or at least Rathor influence, the date 1203 81 the year of the Marāṭhās conquest, and the Śrī suggest it was issued by the Marāṭhās immediately after their conquest of Ajmir and its comparative commonness suggests that the type was continued by them unchanged till Ajmir passed to the British in 1818.

Capital, Alwar (27° 34' 4" N., 76° 38' 28" E.).

This State was founded in 1772 by Pratāp Singh, a Narūka Rājput, who at first possessed but two and a half villages, but during the contentions between the Jāts, Mughals, and Marāthās, about that period, managed to possess himself of the greater part of the territory which forms the southern part of the present State¹ In the Marāthā war of 1803–1806 Bakhtāwar Singh took the side of the British, who rewarded him with the northern part, and took the State under their protection. On the occasion of Queen Victoria's Jubilee the ruler was granted the title of Mahārāja²

The mint was at Rājgarh and the coins of Alwar were struck there from its opening in 1772 until 1877, when Alwar accepted the Government's offer to coin the State's money at Calcutta. The Rājgarh mint was closed except for a formal issue once a year, not for circulation, and the new coinage thenceforward struck at Calcutta³

The coins of Sheodān Singh bear the inscriptions—obverse 'Auspicious coin of Her Majesty the Queen, England the seat of Empire, in the Christian year 1867', reverse 'Struck at Rājgarh in the -th year of the reign of the great King Mahārāo-Rāj Sheodān Singh'.

Similar inscriptions are used on the succeeding ruler's coins

Copper coins are known of Pratāp Singh and Bakhtāwar with the name of Shāh 'Ālam, while Bānī Singh's coins bear the name of Muhammad Bahādur.⁴

BĀNSWĀRA

Capital Bānswāra (28° 30' N 74° 24' E.)

The chiefs of Bānswāra belong to the Sesodia Rājputs of Dūngarpur of which they are the junior branch, becoming detached from the latter State on the death of Udaya Singh in 1528. Bānswāra became partly subject to the Marāṭhās towards the close of the eighteenth century and paid tribute to the Chief of Dhār. A treaty was concluded with the British Government in 1818. The rulers have the title of Mahārāwal.¹

Ruler	A. D.	Number of coins in collection.
Lakshman Singh	1862-1805	4 Total 4.

Lakshman struck coins in 1870 which are known by the name of Lakshman shāhi. The rupee and its divisions are illustrated by Webb² but are not represented in this collection. The inscriptions on both silver and copper have so far baffled interpretation. Webb³ states that in former days the Salim Shāhi rupee (see Parliāgarh) was coined at Bānswāra it certainly was the rupee of the State, and still has a large circulation in the Mahārāwal's territory.

BHARTPUR

Capital Bhartpur (27° 13' 3" N 71° 32' 20" E.)

One of the earliest following the death of the Mughal Emperor Aurangzeb in 1707 was the foundation of a small principality in the State of Bharatpur, which was founded by Churaman, a Jat but he was displaced by his brother Panna Singh, who was then proclaimed Governor of the State of Dugi, with the title of Talukdar. About 1760 Suraj Mal extended it further, the process being continued by his fourth son, Rampr Singh, who for a time was related to General Perron was rewarded with more territory, and thus formed the present State.

According to Webb² the State in early days had two mints, viz., Digi and Bhartpur, and he gives 1703 as the date at which both mints commenced to strike coins. Neither of the names appear on the coins however till quite recent times. Instead we have Maha Indrapur and Bray Indrapur. The earliest coins in this catalogue are of copper, but in vol III Mr. H. Nelson Wright describes a rupee dated 1174 (v. d. 1760) with the usual Mughal legends and in the name of Shāh Jahān III. Those that follow in both vol III and this volume are of similar type, but in Shāh 'Ālam's name, and in the three metals, gold, silver, and copper, while both mints appear until we come to the coins of Jaswant Singh. These are of an entirely different type. On the obverse is the portrait of Queen Victoria, with a Persian legend around—obverse 'In the year 1858 of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, lawful sovereign of England'. On the reverse is its continuation, 'Struck at Bhartpur, 1910 (samvat) by Jaswant Singh Bahādur, Invincible in War, Bray Indrapur'.

Webb² states that the Digi mint closed in 1878 and Bhartpur in 1883.

BĪKANĪR

Capital, Bikanir (28° 0' N., 73° 22' E).

The rulers of Bikanir are of the Rahtor clan of Rājputs, and, with those of Jodhpur, have a common parentage in Jodha, the founder of the latter State, both claiming direct descent from Rāma

The mint at Bikanir appears to have been opened about 1760, for although a sanad is said to have been granted to Gaj Singh by the Emperor 'Ālamgir II between the years 1754 and 1759, giving him permission to coin money,¹ the only name mentioned on the coins down to 1879 is that of the Emperor Shah 'Ālam, whose reign commenced in 1759. Gold coins have never been struck here, but from the time of Gaj Singh onwards its rulers have struck both silver and copper Besides the ordinary rupee of each ruler there has always been issued a 'namr' or presentation coin.¹ The successive mint-marks are given by Webb² as follows

Gaj Singh a patākā (or flag)	卐
Sūrat Singh, a trident	卐
Ratan Singh, a kirmā (turban star)	卐
Sardār Singh a c̥hātā (umbrella)	卐
Dungar Singh, a chauri (fly whisk)	卐
Ganga Singh, a morc̥hhal (peacock feather fly whisk)	卐

In the year 1859 Sardār Singh introduced coins of a new type and on them acknowledged Britain's supremacy in India in place of the Mughal rule recently swept away at the close of the Indian Mutiny. On these pieces Victoria is styled Ornament of the thrones of India and England with the date A.D. 1859 and Samvat, 1916 the type being continued by Dungar Singh and Ganga Singh, and with the same date, the different rulers coins being as before, only identifiable in having an additional symbol for each succeeding prince.

In 1893 Bikanir accepted the offer of the Government of India to strike coins and in No 84 (Pl. XIV 8) is shown the new type, having a bust of the Empress on the obverse with the name of Mahā rāja Ganga Singh in Nāgari and Persian on the reverse. Copper coins of the value of one quarter anna and half pice were also struck at Calcutta in 1895 of similar size and weight to the Imperial issues.

Capital, Dholpur (26° 42' N., 77° 56' E.).

The reigning family of Dholpur are Jāts of the Bamrācha family of the Deswāl tribe.

Dholpur has had a chequered history for it resisted Babur Aurangzeb's sons fought for mastery within its territory and during the forty five years succeeding 1761 changed its master five times. In 1775 it was seized by Mirzā Najaf Khān and then fell into the hands of Sindhia. In 1806 the English united Dholpur Bār Rājākhera, and Sir Muttra's territories into one State and made it over to Maharānā Kirat Singh in exchange for his territory of Gōhad which was given up to Sindhia to whose family it still belongs.

The Dholpur mint was opened in 1804 and the coins struck there are known as tamanchā on account of the tamanchā or pistol shown on them which is also the mark of the State.¹ Silver coins only have been struck at this mint, which ceased its operations in 1857.²

It has been said that the Jaipur mint was opened by Jai Singh II but Webb¹ was unable to believe this, and the earliest known coins are those of Isvari Singh, which were struck in the name of the Emperor Muhammed Shāh (1719-1748). These have been recorded by Mr Nelson Wright in vol. III of this Catalogue and are of usual Mughal type. Similar coins in all three metals have been struck by the successors of Isvari in the name of the Emperor contemporary with those of the rulers of Jaipur until the middle of the reign of Rām Singh when Queen Victoria's name was substituted for that of the Emperor Bahādur and the supremacy of Britain acknowledged. On the obverse of the coin (No 22) is the Persian inscription which Webb translates into English, Struck at Sawāi Jaipur in the year 1808, by permission of the Great Queen of the Empire of Inglistan, Victoria the reverse side containing. In the 31st year of the fortunate reign of Mahārāo-rāj Rām Singh (p. 75, No 3) Coins of this type were struck in the three metals as before, the same design being used on the rupees of his successor Mādhō Singh II Webb says 'In addition to the Jaipur town mint, mints have during this century (the nineteenth) been worked at Mādhupūr Jikur Būpas, Surujghar and Charanā in Khetri. The two latter were closed in 1869 the others at an earlier but now unknown date. The characteristic mint-mark of the State is a jhār or spray of six branches .

SAWĀI MADHUPUR MINT (?)

Akbar II 5 R

The coins of the type Pl XVIII 2 are attributed by Prinsep (p 67) and Webb (Pl VIII 3) to Kotah, but they bear a strong resemblance to the coins of Jaipur, and have the lotus-bud  on the obverse also found on definite Jaipur coins as is the ghār () The coins usually read سواي only if the die ever really bore more. It may be suggested that they are of Sawāi Madhupur, which is known to have been a Jaipur mint

The earliest coins of Jaisalmer are those known by the name of Akhai Shāhi so-called on account of their having been struck originally by Akhai Singh. They are of the usual Maghal type and there is little to distinguish them from the coins of Muhammad Shāh of Dehli mint, from which they were copied with the exception of the marks in the exergue on the reverse. The striking of these coins was prohibited by the Dehli court but they were issued in defiance of the prohibition and enjoyed a large circulation throughout Sind, Bahāwalpūr and the Jaisalmer district, their issue being continued by Mūlraj and his successors until 1860 when coins were struck in Queen Victoria's name with inscriptions, obverse Auspicious coins of Victoria, lawful Queen of England Her Majesty exalted in rank with the reverse continuing Struck in the House of Government Jaisalmer in the 22nd year of her auspicious reign.¹ Copper coins called Dodia are known to have been struck here. They are marked with a design which is very similar in appearance to that on the dhingla paisa of Mewār. Forty of them equal one anna. It is said that they were issued in 1660 and again in 1836.²

Capital, Jhālra Patan (24° 32' N, 76° 12' E)

The ruling family of Jhālrawār belong to the Jhāla clan of Rājputs, and the title of their chieftain is that of Mahārāja Rāna

This State, originally a part of Kotah, came into existence in 1837 and was founded in memory of the services rendered to Kotah by Zālīm Singh, the famous Regent and administrator for over forty-five years. The grandson of Zalim Singh was placed upon the throne thus created with the title of Rāj Rana.

The State began to strike coins at a very early stage of its existence, probably the first year the coins struck being known later as Madan Shāhi. They resemble the coins of Kotah of that period except that they bear the mint-name Jhālāwār. The copper paisa are square.

In 1858 the new Madan Shāhi coins were issued in the name of Queen Victoria.

Samar Singh	1911	—	—	—

No coins can be attributed to this State prior to those of Vijaya Singh, although Tod in his Rajasthan says that Ajit coined money in 1720. The mint of Vijaya Singh was opened in 1761 at the capital, and gold, silver, and copper coins were struck there from that time until quite recently. Mints were also opened at Pālī, Nagor, and Sujat, but apparently at a subsequent date,¹ these subsidiary mints striking in silver and copper only.

The coins in the Indian Museum begin with those of Vijaya, which are called 'Biyy shāhī'. They contain the usual legend of Shāh 'Ālam, the Mughal emperor, who was contemporary with Vijaya. 'Auspicious coin of the noble monarch, Shāh 'Ālam', with the reverse 'Struck in the house of victory, Jodhpur, in the year of his fortunate reign'. Coins bearing this inscription but varying their regnal dates were struck through the successive reigns of Bhīm Singh, Mān Singh, and Takhat Singh until 1858, when as usual the Mughal title gave place to that of Queen Victoria. The obverse reads 'During the auspicious reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria of England and India', and the reverse, 'Struck at Jodhpur by Mahārājādhirājā Śrī Takht Singh Bahādur' and in Nāgaī श्री माताजी = 'Śrī Mātājī'. Coins with similar readings were also issued by Jaswant Singh with the alteration of name and Samvat date, the latter taking its place on all coins struck by the Durbar from Samvat 1918 (A.D. 1863). The special marks of the State are the 'Jhār'    (or spray) and 'Khāndā'  (or sword), and their position on the coins is of much assistance in identifying the mint at which they were struck, especially when supplemented with the private mark of the 'Dāroga'. Each mint-master or 'Dāroga' put a special device of his own on the coins struck by him during his term of office, and Captain Webb in his work² gives the following examples of some of the marks used by them together with their names, and the period during which they were mint-masters.

³ These rupees are known as 'Lullulia', and on account of the baseness of the metal composing them are avoided by traders. Webb, p. 45

The position of the dāroga s mark in relation to the 'jhār and sword as a means of identifying the mint has also been indicated in the same valuable work ¹

Jodhpur coins have the dāroga s mark adjacent to the jhār both being on the obverse

Pāli coins have the dāroga s mark on the obverse whilst the jhār is on the reverse next to the sword.

Nāgor coins have parts (but sometimes entire) of the jhār and sword above the Nāgari letters on the reverse and no sword below

Sūjat coins sometimes bear a kaṭār (dagger) the dāroga s mark being near to the jhār on the obverse. Others also have श्री माहादेवी (Śrī Mahādevaī) on the obverse, with श्री माताजी (Śrī Mātāji) on the reverse.

There are no coins of either Nāgor or Sūjat in the collection here catalogued but several of Pāli, e.g. No. 18 having ضرب نالی ماروار = (Struck at Pāli in Marwar). In 1858 the name of Queen Victoria was substituted for that of the Mughal emperor at Jodhpur but the change was not so promptly made at the other mints.²

The mint at Nāgor was closed in 1872 and that at Sūjat in 1888³ but the Jodhpur and Pāli mints were still active in 1893.

The earliest coins known of this State bear the name of Shāh 'Ālam and according to their regnal year were struck by Mānak Pāl. They bear some resemblance to the coins of Jaipur, but the 'jhār' (𑀧𑀺𑀭𑀸) is distinctive. The issues of Harbaksh and Pratāp can only be distinguished from each other by the regnal year of Akbar II, but on the coins of Madan Pāl and his successors the initial letter of the ruler's name in Nāgarī distinguishes the issuer.

In 1859 coins of a new type were issued on which Queen Victoria was recognized as suzerain, the legend on the obverse reading 'of the Empress, lawful Queen of England, year 1859'. The reverse continues صرب کرولی سہ خلوس میمت

مانوس Struck at Karauli in the -th year of his fortunate reign
The 1859 (1859) is on some dies wrongly written 1852 (1852)

In 1891 Bhanwar Pāl struck coins reading on the obverse Her Majesty, the Empress of India, year 1891 with a reverse similar to the previous issue.

It may be mentioned that Karauli is written both کرولی and کرولی

The old Kuchāwan rupee or bopushahr is a copy of the Ajmer rupee of year 31 of Shāh 'Ālam with the mint-mark a sword (☞) over the * of Shāh on the obverse. It is believed to have been struck in the reign of Surāj Mal¹ and its issue was continued without alteration by his successors until the reign of Kesri Singh. During the latter's reign new coins were struck acknowledging British supremacy upon them with the Persian inscriptions obverse Her Majesty Queen Victoria of England and India, reverse Struck at Kuchāwan dependency of Jodhpur year of Jesus 1863

Webb p 51 has an interesting note on the circulation of this rupee which he says is current in Kuchāwan territory in Kishengarh, and dependency of Mārwar

The coins of this State were formerly struck at three mints, viz, Kotah-city, Jhālā Patan, and Gāgraun, but in 1870 the Political Agent reported to the Government that there was only one mint in the State, that at Kotah-city¹.

The coins of Kota in the name of the 'Empress of England' bear the same symbols (𑂔𑂗𑂢𑂰 𑂔𑂰𑂩) as the earlier coins of Bundi, and they seem to have the same mint, written سدی instead of دبد. The attribution to Kota seems guaranteed by all the authorities however, although the mint-name is certainly not كوطه as read by Webb.

				<hr/> 72 <hr/>

Three mints have been worked in Mewār—at Chitor, Udaipur, and Bhilwāra. The early pieces issued are of Shāh 'Ālam's types. The 'Chitorī' rupee can be identified by its having five strokes over the 'h' of 'Badshāh', while the 'Udaipurī' has in addition to the strokes a 'jhār' and a star. The 'Bhilwārī' rupee is a copy of the Shāhjahānābād type of Shāh 'Ālam. The Chitor and Bhilwāra mints have been closed for many years, the latter before 1870, but the Udaipur mint was in operation as recently as 1913. In the early part of the nineteenth century Bhīm Singh issued the coin known as the 'Chandorī' rupee, which was struck at the Udaipur mint and current during his reign, and also those of his successors, Jawān Singh and Sardār Singh, but was withdrawn and melted down by Swarūp Singh¹. For this reason the coin is of some rarity and is not represented here. The currency issued by Swarūp Singh to take the place of those melted was called the New Chandorī (No. 534) and was struck at Udaipur also. It is said that the marks on them have no special significance. In 1851 or 1852 the same ruler issued coins of another new type (No. 550), which were struck in gold and silver, the latter in various denominations.

The Nāgarī inscription upon the obverse is 'Chitrakūta Udayapūra' and the design below is supposed to represent mountains. The reverse reads 'Dostī Landhana' (Friend of London).

Although the State seems to have been well supplied with currency in the shape of silver, and gold too for that matter, it does not seem to have considered copper coins to be of much importance. The 'Bhilwāra' paisa was certainly struck in the principality, but it appears to have had a greater circulation in the Bhilwara district than in Mewār proper, while the 'Trisulia' and 'Dhingla' paisa were not struck at the State mints but coined by the 'Sonars' or goldsmiths of Chitor and Umarda (a village near Udaipur) respectively. All three of these types have been continually struck since the days of Shāh 'Ālam and are still in use.

SHĀHPUR (MEWĀR STATE)

Capital Shāhpur (27° 23' 45" N, 76° 1 E.)

The ruling family of this State belong to the Sesodia Rājput clan. Its chief has the title of Rājādhirāj and is feudatory to both Udaipur and the British Government.

Coins in gold silver and copper have been struck at this mint the first two of them being of the same type as those issued by Ālamgir II of Shāhjahanābād mint but with a small trisul as mint mark. The copper coins are indescribable but have Shāh Ālama legends in bungled Persian script. The mint was closed in 1870 by order of the British Government.

PARTĀBGARH (PRATĀPGARH)

Capital, Partābgarh (17° 56' N, 73° 38' 30" E).

The Mahārāwa of Partābgarh comes of the same stock as Udaya Singh, the Rāna of Udaipur, and is therefore a chief of the royal Sesodia clan of Rājputs

The Partābgarh mint was opened by Salīm Singh in or about 1784, and the coins then struck were called 'Salīm shāhi'. The rupees and their subdivisions attained great popularity and were current also in Dūngarpur, Bānswāiā, and a large part of Mālwa. The old 'Salīm shāhi', as the original coins were called, bore the legends of Shāh Ālam and were dated 1119. The mint-name when present is دیر, their peculiar epigraphy renders their identification an easy matter when it is absent, as is usual. They bear the regnal years 26 and 29 although the Hijrī date is the same on both. Another issue of them was made in the reign of Sawant Singh dated 1236 (i.e. A.D. 1820) with the regnal date 45 which could not possibly refer to Shāh Ālam. The same date was retained in the coins issued by Udaya Singh somewhere about 1870 the full legend reading بادشاہ غازی سک مبارک سال لندن ۱۲۴۱. Auspicious coin of the victorious monarch the sovereign of London 1236. Copper coins of an earlier reign than that of Udaya Singh have so far been unidentified, but during his period, 1864-1890 two different types were struck, the first apparently dated 1935 Samvat (A.D. 1878). The obverse of this has a rude representation of a sunface with hands (?) and an inscription in Nāgarī with Samvat date on the reverse. The second issue has a sunface also but of different type and with two swords below. On the other side the Samvat date, 1943 (A.D. 1886) is given within an oval with Partābgarh State above and below. Coins of this type are not represented in this collection.

Capital Tonk (26° 10' 43" N., 75° 50' 6" E.).

This State is the only Muhammadan principality in Rājputāna. It is not in one large portion but scattered about in six divisions: Tonk, Aligarh Rāmpūra Nimbhora, Pirawa Chapra, and Sironj which are separated from each other by distances varying from 20 to 50 miles.

Its rulers bear the title of Nawāb and are Pathāns of the Boner tribe. The State of Tonk was founded in 1806 by Amīr Khān, who, for services rendered to Holkar, received Tonk in return, augmented later by the gift by the British Government of Rampura Fort and Aligarh-Rāmpūra.

				<hr/> 18 <hr/>

The currency issued by this State during the reigns of the first three of the Khāns, appears to have been struck at Sironj, a Mughāl mint from the time of Akbar but infrequently used. On the accession of Ibrāhīm 'Alī the mint was transferred from Sironj to the capital, and صرب تونك appears in the legend instead of صرب سروج previously used.

The earliest coins of this State in the collection are those of Wazīr Muhammad and are of Mughal type, bearing the legends of Muhammad Akbar with the usual mint formula. After 1858 the obverse legend bears the name of Queen Victoria, '(In the) reign of Her Majesty, Queen of the Kingdom, exalted in position, Victoria, struck at Sironj'. On the reverse are given the Nawāb's name and titles, and Hijrī date, 'Muhammad, Nasrat Jang Bahādur, Wazīr Khān, Proprietor of the State, year 1277'. His successor, Muhammad 'Alī, issued coins bearing a similar legend on the obverse to those just described, but the reverse legend continued, 'Brave, furious in war, Nawāb Muhammad 'Alī Khān, Wazīr, Proprietor of the State, 1288'. The date must be an error for he was deposed in 1285 (= A D. 1867). The coins of his successor, the present ruler, Ibrāhīm 'Alī, bear nearly the same inscription as the last on the obverse, but terminate دارالریاست تونك 'Seat of the State, Tōnk', and conclude the legend on the other side with a couplet which the late Mr. C. J. Rodgeas¹ rendered as

Capital Bhopāl (28° 15 35" N., 77° 25 56' E.)

This State was founded by Dost Muḥammad an Afghān officer in the service of Aurangzeb, who took advantage of the dissensions in the Mughal empire at that period (1690) to seize Bhopāl and make himself independent.

The coins of Bhopal in this collection begin with those of the reign of Kudsia Begam. They bear the usual legend of Muḥammad Akbar and are of the mint of Daulatgarh with the characteristic mint-mark of Bhopāl. Later coins do not bear the ruler's name but give the Hijri date and denomination. The word تس or تس on the coins of Sikandar may refer to the purity of the metal or to Kudsia Begam the first queen.

This mint has at different periods struck its coinage in all three metals, i.e. gold silver and copper and continued operations until late in the reign of Shāh Jahān Begam. Since 1897 the British rupee has been the only legal tender.¹

The coins (Nos 705, 706) in the collection were sent to the Museum through the Bundelkhand Agency as specimens of the current 'Ratan shāhī' struck at Bijāwar. They are apparently an imitation of the Chhatarpur rupee (see p 291 f). The Bijāwar mint was closed in 1897

SRINAGAR IN BUNDELKHAND

Many of the smaller States in Central India but especially in Bundelkhand have never had a coinage of their own but made free use of the currency struck by their more powerful neighbours. The coins described below were very popular in these States, and circulated there under various names such as the 'Srinagri Jai Rām ghāhī Chikara and Ratan ghāhī rupees. These are all of one type and were struck at Srinagar a decayed town in the Hamirpūr District U P., which was founded in the early part of the eighteenth century by Mohan Singh illegitimate son of Chhatar Sāl. The pieces in the collection were apparently sent to the Museum at the request of the authorities as specimens of local currency. Copper coins (Nos. 16-24) were also struck in large numbers from the Srinagar mint bearing the device of a trident on one side and lotus bud on the other.

The trident of Śiva was a favourite emblem of the Marāṭhās and the coins on which it appears both rupees and pāisa, are generally called Bala-ghāhī¹.

¹ For example see Journal Asiatique (pp. 41-25) says that the word Bala-ghāhī is derived from the Sanskrit Bala-ghāhī, Panth, the name of the person who was in charge of the Mint and various other coins.

CHHATARPUR

Capital Chhatarpur (24 54 N., 79° 38' E.)

The Mahārāja of Chhatarpur is of the Puār tribe of Rājputa whose ancestor in the days of Marāṭhā disturbance dispossessed the descendant of Chhatar Sāl then ruling and was granted a sanad by the British Government in 1806.

Ruler	A.D.	Number of coins in collection

The rupees struck at Chhatarpur¹ until 1847 when the mint was closed by order of the Government bore the couplet of Shāh Ālam II

¹ Prinsep says (p. 25) that the mint closed from 1847

The 'Rājā shāhī', as the Chhatarpur coin is called, is of a very distinctive type and easily recognized, for in the centre of the field between the words باد and لم a flower with a long stalk is exhibited, which appears to represent the helianthus or sunflower. The legend on the reverse is the usual formula with mint چہترپور

DATIĀ

Capital, Datiā (25° 40' N, 78° 30' E).

The Mahārāja of Datiā belongs to the great Bundela Rājput family. The State was founded in 1735 by Bhagwan Dās, the son of Narsingh Deo of Orchhā.

Ruler	A D	Number of coins in collection
Vijaya Bahādur	1839	Æ 27	Æ 1	Total 28

Two distinct types of coin are reputed to have been struck by this State, one of them being called the 'Rājā Shāhī' (Nos 11-12), and the other the 'Gaja Shāhī' (Nos 13-28), which imitate the coins of Orchhā (q v). The 'Rājā Shāhī' is an imitation of a coin struck by Shāh 'Ālam at an unknown mint, with the date 1178 and of the sixth year of his reign. Both types are easily recognizable and have been struck and circulated for probably the best part of the nineteenth century. They are issued in various sizes from the rupee to two annas. In addition to these the 'Bālāshāhī' rupee is current in Datiā and throughout Bundelkhand, as is also the 'Srīnagrī', while the 'Tegh shāhī' paīsa (No 28) is said to be of Datiā mintage.

DEWĀS

Capital, Dewās (22° 58' N, 76° 6' E)

This State is remarkable in that it has two chiefs for its rulers with the title of Rāja, but the rule of each is distinctly limited to his own district. They are Marāthās of the Puār Rājput race, and descendants of the same ancestor as the Rāja of Dhār. In order to distinguish their relationship they are called 'Bābā Sāhib' and 'Dādā Sāhib' respectively, which means 'Father' and 'elder brother'. Their position in the State is known to Europeans as the Senior and Junior branches of Dewās, while the two reside in different palaces in the capital, the city of Dewās. The State was founded about 1726 by Tukojī and Jiwājī, two brothers, who had accompanied the army of the Peshwā Bājī Rao in its victorious campaign against Mālwā, and received in return for their services the districts of Dewās, Sarangpur, and Allote.

SENIOR BRANCH	A. D.	JUNIOR BRANCH	A. D.
Kṛṣṇajī II	1860-1864 Æ 4	Nāūyan Rao	1864 Æ 1

This State has never had a mint but made use of the currency struck in the mints of the States in the neighbourhood. Copper paisa, however, are known to have been struck locally at Allote in Dewās (Senior Branch), of which an account was furnished by the Minister to the Rāja of Dewās (Junior Branch), and published in the Numismatic Supplement, No IV, to the J A S Bengal, 1904, § 30. The Allote paisa (Nos 1-3) in the collection are apparently the identical specimens that were made use of in the account, and were afterwards sent to the Museum by the writer, Mr. W. E. Jardine, through Mr. H. Nelson Wright. These coins appear to have been issued for some considerable period, most probably generations, and were still being issued in 1904, the contract for their manufacture being given to the local bankers. In 1888 copper coins were struck at Calcutta by the Indian Government for both the Senior and Junior branches. A description of the quarter anna struck for the Junior branch will be found in the catalogue, but the issue for each branch consisted of the half-pice and one-twelfth anna as well as the quarter anna.

DHAR

Capital, Dhār (23° 36' N, 75° 4' E).

The Rāja of Dhār is a Puār Rājput and of the same stock as the rulers of Dewās, the dynasty of the present State of Dhār having been founded by Anand Rao, a Maiāthā leader, who in 1749 received the territory as a grant from the Peshwā Bājī Rao

Rules	A D	Number of coins in collection
Anand Rao III	1857	Æ 5 Total 5

Dhār has never struck coins in gold or silver, but in copper only, the date at which the mint was opened is uncertain. The earliest in the collection are those of Anand Rao III, which exhibit the figure of Hanumān, the monkey god, and bear a Muhammadan date in Hindu numerals, san 1289 (= A D 1872)

In 1887 copper coins were struck by the Government at the Calcutta mint for the use of this State. These are similar to the ordinary British Indian copper coins, viz quarter anna, half pice, and one-twelfth anna, with the addition of the legend 'Dhār State'. In 1895 the British rupee was made sole legal tender

GWALIOR

Mints Gwalior (26° 13' N., 78° 12' E.) and Ujjain (23° 11' 10" N., 75° 51' 45" E.)

Gwalior State was founded by Ranoji the son of the headman of a village in the Satara district, who in 1714 became slipper bearer to Balaji Vishvanath, the first Peshwa. From this humble position, from which the name Sindhia is derived he gradually rose in favour until under the second Peshwa, Balaji Rao he became one of the foremost leaders of the Marathas who at this period were rapidly becoming masters of Central India.

The coins of the Mughal Emperors of Gwalior mint have been described in vol. III. The series described in this volume begin with the rupees and paise issued by Daulat Rao in the name of Shah Alam successor Muhammad Akbar. The mint marks on the coins include the word श्री = Sri on coins attributed to Rajja Bai (wife of Daulat Rao who became regent during her son Jankoji's minority) ड = Je for Jankoji जी = Ji for Jayaji (II) and मा = MA for Mahho and all of them are usually accompanied by a sign (♣) intended to represent a bow and arrow up or down. The copper coins struck during the reign of Jankoji or possibly his predecessor have in addition to fragments of Mughal legends the trident of Siva on one side (॥) and a spear head (†) and three-pronged sceptre (Y) on the other. To this group I have added some pai (Nos. 50 & 52) with a reverse of a similar type to those just described, although it is equally possible that they were issued at Orchha or some other Central Indian mint. Jayājī struck copper coins of a similar type to those of Jankojī, but included the letter जी (= jī) and a cobra among the emblems, while in 1863 paṣa were issued with his initial above a cobra, and a trident and sceptre to left and right respectively. The reverse has the initial letters अ, व of his titles 'Alījāh' and 'Bahādur' (Exalted, Invincible), above a trident. The Gwalior State mints occasionally strike coins in gold, but for special purposes only. In 1893 the coining of silver by these mints was stopped and the British rupee made the only legal tender, but copper coins are still issued from the State mint. Those struck in 1896 have an inscription in Nāgarī reading, 'Śrī Mādho Rao M[ahārājā] Śinde Alījā Bahādur' with 'Gwāliyar pao ($\frac{1}{4}$) anna samvat 1953' on the reverse, while others of a recent date exhibit the bust of His Highness with the legend, 'Śrī Mādho Rao Śinde, Alījā, Bahādur, Gwāliyar', on the obverse, with a coat of arms and supporters on the reverse together with the value in Nāgarī 'Pao anna' and Persian 'Yak paṣā', concluding with the date 'Samvat 1970' in Nāgarī.

Ujjain was in ancient times the capital of Mālhwā and one of the seven sacred cities of the Hindus. In 1792 Ujjain was taken and burnt by Holkar, but later fell into the hands of his rival, Sindhiā, whose capital it remained until 1810, when Daulat Rao transferred the government to Gwalior, which took its place as the most important mint of Gwalior state.

In vol III Mr H Nelson Wright has described the Mughal issues of Ujjain mint down to the reign of Shāh 'Ālam and at the same time draws attention to the fact that the coins issued in the name of this ruler were struck by the Marāthās in the reign of Daulat Rao Sindhiā. The series now described are of the same series and profess to be struck by Shāh 'Ālam at Dār al-Fath Ujjain.

The square-shaped copper coins 53, 54 (Pl XXII 10) are probably of Ujjain mint and perhaps bore Shāh 'Ālam inscriptions, but this and the exact date are uncertain.

NARWAR

Narwar (Gwalior State) (25° 39' 2" N, 77° 56' 57" E).

This town is of great antiquity Towards the end of the eighteenth century the Marāthās gained possession of it, and it was guaranteed by the British to Daulat Rao by the treaty of Allahābād (1805) The two coins catalogued here were struck by the Kachwaha dynasty in name of Shāh 'Ālam II, before the Marāthā conquest

Capital, Indore (22° 42' N, 75° 54' E)

This Marāthā State was founded by Malhār Rao Holkar, who was born in a village named Hōl, from whence the dynastic title 'Holkar' is derived, the village being situated on the river Nīra in the Deccan Malhār entered the service of the Peshwā in 1724, at the age of 31, and in 1728 was rewarded for his services with the grant of twelve parganas to the north of Narbadā, which may be considered as the foundation of the future State His career from this period was a series of successes. After the defeat of the Marāthās at the battle of Pānīpat in 1761 by Ahmad Shāh Durrāni, the Marāthā leader retired to Indore, where four years later he died.

The capital was built by Ahalyā Bai his daughter in law who on his decease assumed the administration of Indore and in conjunction with her commander-in-chief, Tukōji Rao prosperously ruled the State for thirty years. On her death in 1793 dissensions arose, and the throne was seized by Jaswant Rao. His accession to the gaddi was opposed by Sindhia and the Peshwā, whom he met and defeated in 1802. Later the British intervened and war was carried on between the Holkar army and the British for a number of years with varying results, until at length in 1818 Indore was made a feudatory State and the British Government recognized as the paramount power

The coinage of the state of Indore dates from the time of Ahalyā Bai who apparently had two mints, viz. Maheshwar and Indore to the latter she gave the name of Malhārnagar. The coins struck at these mints have the same legends the mint legend on both being ضرب مطهر = struck at Malhārnagar. Those struck at Maheshwar and known as Maheshwari have as ornament the yoni linga while those struck at the capital bear the sunface as their principal mint mark. The mint on the former is usually written مطهر. Coins of the latter type were used for well over a century. The legends of Shāh Ālam remain with the Hijri date on the obverse. The regnal years are those of Shāh Ālam II in Jaswant Rao's reign. In Malhār Rao's reign the reverse dates run from 1167/8 A.H., and we have dates like 1230/62 1232/64. In Tukōji's reign they seem to date from Shāh Ālam again and we have dates like 1280/110 1282/112 1292/112. The coins (PL. XXIII 2 B) of Jaswant Rao interrupt the regular series Plate XXIII. 2 has Sanskrit legends translated by Cunningham¹ as follows 'By the permission of the king of Indraprastha (Dehli) the Emperor of the world, this coin has been struck by the renowned Yaswant whose heart is as the black bee of the lotus foot of Lakshmikant, to circulate throughout the earth. Śāka 17-28' (= A D 1806) The next coin (Pl. XXIII. 3) was struck in the following year, and has the following legend obv 'Muhammad Akbar, Lord of the second conjunction from the beginning to the end, Sultān, struck this auspicious currency', rev 'Struck at Indore in the second year of the fortunate reign of Jaswant Rao Holkar Mahārāja, Bahādur, in trust for the Lord of the Khalifate, the exalted Prince'. In 1859 (?) copper coins of new type were struck by Tukojī having the Bull and 'linga' with Shāh 'Ālam legends, and the value 'Half anna' in Nāgarī (Pl XXIII. 6)

There are several pieces in the collection (Pl XXIII 7, 11, XXIV. 1, &c.) all of which have in the centre of the obverse the word Mudra ('coin or seal'), with a sunface occupying a similar position on the reverse, and marginal legends in Nāgarī These pieces appear to have been struck in honour of the celebrated lady Ahalyā Bai, daughter-in-law of Malhār Rao (1765-1795) The earliest of this type in the collection (No 102) is dated Śāka 1790 (= A D 1858), and is commemorative of the 'Holkar at the Pūkharāj festival' with 'Victory to Ahalyā, follower of Śamkarā'. Nos (103) and (104) have 'Lady Mallārī Ahalyā' and 'By favour of the Lady Mallārī Ahalyā' respectively, while No (104) reads 'Lord of the province of Indore' and 'Lady Mallārī Ahalyā daughter-in-law of Śrī Mahārāja While these Mudra pieces were evidently struck as Nazr, some appear to have been used as currency

The half and quarter rupees issued in A H 1280 call for notice not only on account of their unusual size and thinness, but also for their Shāh 'Ālam legends and regnal date, 110

The accession of Śivājī Rao in 1886 brought a further type to Indore. The name of Shāh 'Ālam is still retained on the one side, while the other has a sunface and the marginal Nāgarī inscription 'Mahārāja Śivājī Rao Holkar' and Samvat date This was the last of the type, for in 1899 a rupee of a very handsome appearance was struck bearing a bust of the Hōlkar and the circular Nāgarī legend 'Srīmat Śivājī Rao Mahārāja Holkar, Indore, 1956' (Samvat) The reverse has a coat of arms and other insignia together with a label and the motto 'The Lord of Umā (i e Śiva) has said, "Greatness (or glory) is to be won by beginning from God".' The legends on the copper coins are varied the earliest one reading Obv Srimat Mahārāo Holkar 1943 and Rev one half anna Indore. Another of the same year bears the legend on Obv Srimat Mahārāo Holkar Sarkar Indore and Rev Ardhā ana, s. 1943. Smaller coins of the same type have Pao ana s. 1943 on the reverse of the quarter anna, the set being complete with the $\frac{1}{2}$ pice No (1012) reading $\frac{1}{2}$ Dehli ka paisā s. 1944. Another reading is given on the quarter anna No. (1013) Srimat Mahārāja Śivājirāo Holkar Indore also issued in 1944 (s). Three years later in 1902¹ the Indore mint was closed by arrangement with the British Government and the Imperial rupee made legal tender in the state.

Muhammad Ismā'il	1890	—	—	4	4

The date at which this mint began operations is unknown but it was probably not before the reign of Muhammad Ismā'il and it is unlikely that any other coins than those of copper have been struck there. There is an earlier paisa of Jaora in the British Museum which has a flag and chakra (or wheel) on one side with the legend سرکار سرور = struck by the Sarkār and نواب جاورا = Nawāb of Jaorā year 1290 (= A D 1878) on the other.

The copper coins of a later date are in two sizes and bear inscriptions in three languages viz. English Persian and Hindi.

The mint was originally situated at Orchhā, the old capital but during the last century it was removed to its present site at Tehri where it still exercises its prerogative of coining. The pieces in the collection bear the legends of Shāh Ālam and are known as 'Gaja shāhi' on account of the Gaja or mace which is the symbol in the mint. The legends are the usual couplet of Shāh Ālam.

Copper coins only have been struck by the Sailāna mint.

The specimen (PL XXV 8) in the collection although uninscribed is recognized as having been issued at Sailāna, and was sent as such to the Museum by the Assistant to the Agent of the Government of Central India. No. 2 may be of the same mint but has letters that form part of some legend at present unread. Quarter annas of Imperial type were struck for Sailāna at the Calcutta mint in 1903, and again in 1912 which exhibit the portraits of Edward VII and George V respectively. The reverses of both bear the name of the state, value, and date in English with सैलाना राज = 'Sailānā Rāj' below.

SEONDHĀ

Seorha (Seoru) or Seondha is a town in Datia State at which the following coins were struck at the beginning of the nineteenth century. The exact reading of the mint name on the coin is doubtful but there seems no reason to doubt the attribution given on local authority by Hoernle in J.A.S.B. 1897 p. 263.

JHĀNSI

Mint, Balwantnagar (= Jhānsi) (25° 25' N, 78° 35' E)

Jhānsi with its capital of the same name, locally known as Balwantnagar, the name that appears on the coins, issued coins in name of Shāh 'Ālam II. It was brought under Marāthā rule in 1766 and remained under the Peshwā till 1817, when the British acquired sovereign rights, while recognizing the hereditary title of the Marāthā governor. The mint was abolished in 1826 (Prinsep, II, p 56). The rupees are locally known as nānāshāhī. The pieces in this Catalogue may be attributed to the following Peshwā rulers

MISCELLANEOUS MARATHĀ MINTS

Under this head may be classed a group of Marāthā mints which issued coins mainly rupees at the end of the eighteenth century pieces closely connected in style and by the common possession of the symbols ♡ and ✱ (whence the name Balasāhā). These mints are Jalaun Kalpi Kunch Garhā Mandla (Balanagar Gadha) and Ravashi nagar Sāgor [cf also Srinagar pp 288 290]

JALAUN

Prin ep (ii p. 30) mentions Srinagar in addition to Jalaun the capital as a mint of Jalaun and there is a close resemblance between their issues. Some of the coins below may really be of Srinagar and vice versa. At the period of issue of the coins it was a Marāthā state in the early nineteenth century portions of it passed to British Bunlelkhand. The mints of Kalpi and Kunch may be included under Jalaun state

MANDLĀ

Mint, Mandlā Bālānagar Gadhā (22° 36' N , 80° 23' E)

Mandlā, on the coins Bālānagar-Gadhā, is the capital of Mandlā district. The last Gond-Rājput king was deposed by the Marāthās in 1781, and the district was under the control of the Peshwās till 1818 when it was taken by the British. The coins here described belong to the Marāthā period. According to Prinsep (Useful Tables, p 29) 'Garrah Mandlā' mint was the Peshwā's mint for Sagar from 1779 until the latter mint was opened in 1824 and 'coined about seventeen lakhs of Bālāshāhī rupees per annum'. The dates on the coins, however, show that the mints were working concurrently.

SAUGOR (SAGAR)

Ravanagar Sagar (23° 51' N., 78° 45' E.)

Saugor (Sagar) is the principal town in the Saugor district which was conquered by the Marāṭha Peshwā in 1735 whose lieutenant Govind Rao, did much for the development of the city. The latter's descendants held it till it was ceded to the British in 1818. In reference to this and the Mandla mint is not very clear. — The Sagar mint was set up in 1779 by the Peshwā's officer at Garrah Mandla at a cost of about seventeen lakhs of Rupees per annum. Its operation continued under Mr. Mallock who to counteract the factory going on at Garrah inserted the word "Sagar" in small

English characters on the die The new Sāgar mint erected in 1824 is now rapidly removing all the old coins from circulation (Useful Tables, p 29, cf p. 28).'

Hunter also tells us that the mint continued under British rule. 'In 1820 a large building was erected (in Sāgar) for a mint where 400 men were employed in coining, but after some ten or twelve years the business was transferred to Calcutta' (J. G., 1887, xii, p 109).

MISCELLANEOUS AND UNATTRIBUTED

Nos. 1 2 3 are probably the Śrī sūkā rupees of Poona (Prinsep U.T., p. 58) No. 4 bearing the mint-name Dilshādābād is attributed by Mr Vicedjee in his valuable monograph Notes on the Hand Minting of coins of India to Gopalpett and Latur the Marāthā syllables गो and न being the initials of these two places. Nos. 5-9 are of Chandor and according to Prinsep (ii p 58) were current in the Northern Konkan. No. 10 is quite uncertain. It appears to be a rare mint a specimen in the British Museum suggests that the mint-name has the prefix نادر Nos. 11-14 15 16 20 and 21-3 are equally uncertain. Nos. 24-7 are Chandoli rupees, according to Prinsep and were current in Gwalior The mint names seem to begin with نادر on such specimens as have traces of it. Nos. 28-9 are according to Prinsep's notes on his coins in the British Museum Chalan (i.e. current) in the Doab The mint looks like کروان or کروال but has not been identified.

In conclusion we have a number of uncertain copper of which it should be possible to identify No 30 accurately The others suggest Ujjain or some Gwalior mint.
